Group comes to halt

When push comes to shove, districts won't act on joint plan for school growth woes

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

What was once a consortium of all feeder districts and community representatives has dwindled to Lake Villa District 41, Grayslake and Antioch high schools to nothing.

The Northwest Educational Planning Group formed more than a year ago and was charged with a mission to find a school solution acceptable to all five elementary districts and the high school. That hasn't happened, and no further meetings have been called.

"I think we are out of options for now," said Dennis Hockney, ACHS superintendent.

"It's as dead as a doornail," said Craig Kressner, District 41 board president.

The last meeting, on March 31, ended with some preliminary thoughts on a unit district encompassing all of District 41 or having all the District 41 students attending either Antioch or Grayslake high schools.

A merger of the Antioch and Grayslake high school districts was considered a month ago, but was shot down by ACHS Board.

"It's really up to District 41 to decide if they want to study and

Some village intersections are dangerous for pedestrians

Antioch board discusses solutions

ALEC JUNGE

It looks like the village will be installing a walk light at the North Avenue and Main Street intersection.

"We are looking for the go ahead from the county," said Village Engineer John Boldt.

Trustees were concerned with pedestrian safety at that intersection because there isn't a walk signal at that crosswalk.

The village needs the approval of the Lake County Department of Transportation because North Avenue is a county road.

Boldt said the signals would cost between $12,000 to $15,000.

"We will include it in the budget," said Tim Wells, village administrator.

There is no specific time frame of when this may be accomplished.

Another area determined by trustees to be dangerous is Route 173 near St. Peter Church and Struggles Restaurant. Trustees have expressed concern with pedestrian safety when people go between the restaurant and church on Sundays and have to cross the highway.

"It is not cost effective. There is nothing that seems to fit," said Wells, of options to address the problem.

There are existing cross walks. However, many people disregard them in favor of the more direct and dangerous route.

Cunningham also asked about getting an old cross walk near Janis Plastics repainted.

Shakespeare comes to ACHS

Antioch Community High School students are presenting two versions of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

One of them follows the Shakespearean script, while the other is a more modernized version adapted and rewritten by students with the supervision of the English Department.

"It's a comedy, which of course requires a case of mistaken identity," said Michael Shehorn, faculty advisor.

The lead character, Viola, is shipwrecked and takes on the identity of a man. She becomes interested in another man who wants her to help him get the other woman interested in him.

Conversely, her twin brother, who she thought was dead, appears again in various moments in the play and audiences are left wondering which character they are seeing.

Meanwhile, there is a subplot involving Marvolio, a servant who tries to get the love

Downtown facelift goes for $500,000

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees began discussing how proposed downtown improvements might look.

Village Engineer John Boldt gave trustees a presentation regarding possible options they have for landscaping, lighting and sidewalks to spruce up the downtown area. The board has already set aside $500,000 for the project.

The whole vision is to create a more aesthetically pleasing downtown shopping district to help promote existing businesses.

"We want something to help attract people and the tourists to the downtown area," said Claude LeMere, community development director.

One of the considerations is lighting. Trustees are pondering going with a decorative light in addition to the existing street lights. One thing is for sure, the number of the high mast lights will remain at 11. However, their location will change so they are spaced more evenly from Orchard to Park avenues. They also will be 30 feet high.

Some trustees were concerned with how the light might affect residents with second floor apartments.

"The downtown area is mainly a business area and they need to consider the safety factor in this," said Trustee Dorothy Larson.

"We are spending a lot of time, effort and money to make this change," said Trustee Wayne Forresta. "We need a little cooperation."

Trustees also considered whether they should keep the existing trees or cut them down and start with new ones.

Village Administrator Tim Wells said the existing Christmas lights would not look good on smaller trees. Forresta was in support of keeping as many existing trees as possible.

"I just don't think the new trees would be tall enough," Forresta said.

"We should have some of both so when the mature trees get old and die we have some to replace them," said Trustee Mabel Lou Weber.

Boldt said the village can spend $150,000 on lighting, $140,000 on sidewalks and curbs, $36,000-$37,000 for resurfacing Main Street and $30,000 for landscaping, depending on the options trustees choose.

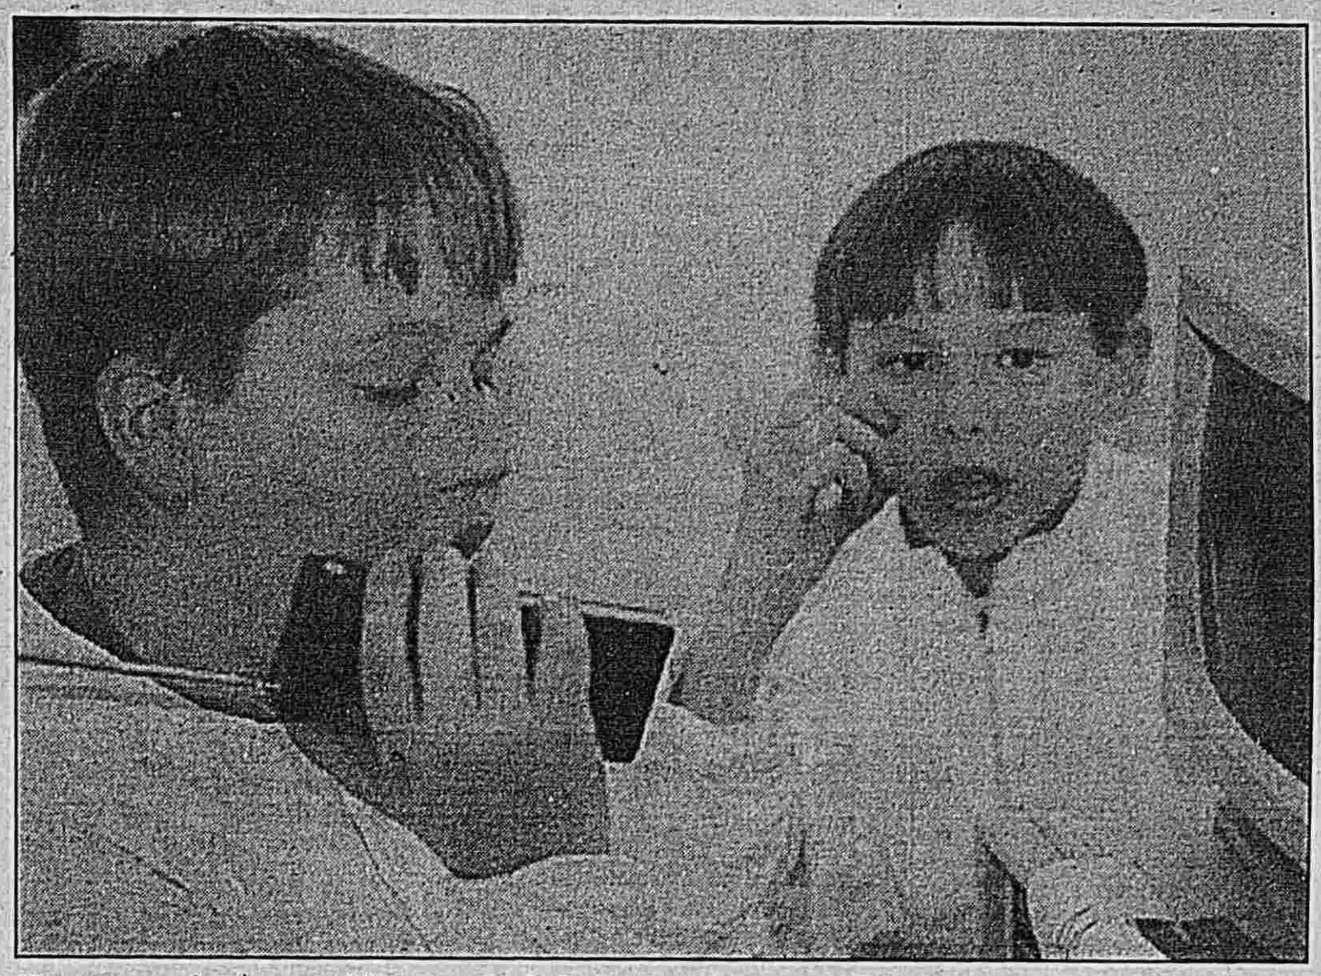

In terms of sidewalks, Mayor Marilyn Shineflug told trustees they had to keep the existing width of the sidewalk because the Illinois Department of Transportation wanted to keep the full road right-of-way for Route 83.

One suggestion was to add a more decorative strip near each crosswalk to enhance the look.

The board hasn't made any firm decisions at this time. The board will discuss the issue again at the April 28 meeting.

Once they are more clear on a direction they would like to take, Shineflug will present the suggestions to downtown merchants to get their input.

Also included will be underground electrical cable work.

Emmons students blast off to space

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Emmons School students were off to space this week.

The fourth- and fifth-grade students took part in the school's seventh space simulation. Complete with a space station, shuttle and mission control, this hands-on demonstration gave students a first-hand glimpse at the complexities of space travel.

Among the experiments was mission control with student Mike Lowe, who was monitoring experiments performed by the student astronauts.

"They had to drink while leaning over the chair to simulate weightlessness in space," Lowe said.

Also involved was a student medical team. Part of that team was Robert Reynolds. One of the things he was watching was if the astronauts were doing their exercises properly.

"If they don't do their exercises, their muscles will be weak when they get back to earth," Reynolds said.

Students communicated through computer links from station or rocket to the mission control. Mission control had the video monitor on the spacecraft.

Besides the space simulation, students also participated in other space related experiments. One of them was to create a seal to a package so eggs could be protected from a 35-foot drop.

Another project involved students making their own rockets out of toilet paper rolls.

Another room had students working on their own satellites by using paper and creating the same motion. Finally another room was set for the constellations.

Each student was involved in each of these areas during the three-day simulation.

Parents assisted teachers in creating the space station and shuttle in the gym.

April winds unleash destruction

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

The winds of April came early and caused plenty of damage to Antioch and Lake Villa Township areas.

The April 6 wind gusts left residents without power, shingles and roofing torn and trees knocked down.

Lake Villa officials reported several trees were knocked down and power was lost from five to six hours.

However, one area in the border of Lake Villa and Antioch Township by the Antioch Golf Club was without power for two days.

"We had a few residents who didn't have power until Monday," said James Stevens, Lindenhurst village administrator.

Stevens said about 100 homes were affected by the storm. He added many of them had some blown away shingles, roofing materials and minor siding damage.

"Overall we felt we made it through the storm in good shape," Stevens.

He added there was some minor damage to a village shed.

Joe Trexler, Com Ed spokesman, said the storm was so widespread it made it difficult to restore power.

"It's the type of situation where when we restore power we are only doing it for a few customers instead thousands," Trexler. "So it takes a long time."

Trexler said power was lost from poles blown down, from trees which fell on the lines and lines being separated from the poles.

Candidates seek to fulfill promises

Even though the "A Better Community" slate had no opposition in the Antioch village elections, the candidates ran a campaign and have presented a wish list of things they will hope to accomplish in four years.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug and Trustees Ron Cunningham, Dorothy Larson, and Marv Oldenburger presented the community with what they felt were accomplishments and priorities they will stress to get done.

Their first goal is to maintain financial responsibility, a high level of village services and downtown revitalization.

The goals include: Investigating a special census, completion of the Depot Street improvement project, continue the Longview Drive to Main Street project at funds become available

Other priorities are: Supporting increased Metra train service, supporting a second emergency service building east of the train tracks, continue sidewalk repair, downtown revitalization plan, support of the downtown history program.

Another goal is to attract new industries and jobs by aggressively pursuing business and industry to balance the tax base.

They also seek to control growth and development through planning and zoning procedures. They pledge to control the development of vacant parcels through the planning and zoning department, investigate additional types of impact fees and explore additional border agreements.

Their fourth plank is to support environmentally responsive policies such as: creation of the Antioch Wetland Restoration Area, and renegotiate residential solid waste contract to expand recyclables.

They also seek to improve communications between residents and village officials.

Finally, they seek to work with the post office to solve parking problems.

Child enticer strikes Round Lake area

JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

Following recent similar incidents around the County, Round Lake Park authorities are reporting an attempt at child enticement.

Police say that on April 2, at approximately 3 p.m., a 7-year-old female student of Beach Elementary School was walking on Elder Drive, between Clifton Drive and Highmoor Drive in Round Lake Park, when she was stopped by a male in a white van.

The suspect asked the girl "can you help me find my puppy," to which the student replied "no" and ran away.

The man sought by police is described as approximately 30 years of age and possibly Hispanic. He was described as having black hair with gray on the sides, a brown mustache and wearing a black short sleeve T-Shirt and blue jeans.

The suspect's vehicle is described as a full-size van, white in color, with two thin green pinstripes on its center sides. The van has no side windows, some rust on the middle passenger side, and has tinted front and rear door windows.

Police currently consider the vehicle their best lead in the case and are asking for the public's assistance.

"We would want to know about anyone who is known to have or drive this type of vehicle," said Round Lake Park Police Chief Bruce Johnson.

"Anyone who is innocent should be cleared almost immediately and we will ensure that no one's rights are violated," he said. "We want to stop this before an incident becomes a tragedy."

Chief Johnson added that anonymous information pertaining to the case is welcome.

The descriptions in the case are similar, but not identical, to those obtained by Round Lake Area Park District Police in connection with a separate previous incident on March 18.

In that incident, occurring at approximately 5:50 p.m., two nine-year-old girls reported being followed from Countrywalk Park by a white mini-van in Round Lake Beach.

The driver was reported as being possibly Hispanic, having black hair with gray on the sides, and a mustache. He was reported as wearing dark sun glasses and being a smoker. The driver did not talk or approach the two girls.

The vehicle was described as rusting along the bottom portion of the body, having a dent on the driver's side in front of the rear wheel and having three wide green lines running the length of the van. The van was reported as having tinted windows.

Police remind parents to tell children to never enter a stranger's home or vehicle. Children should also be taught their full name, address and telephone numbers.

As further precautions, police ask parents to always know who their child's friends are, to never leave children unattended, and to have fingerprints and recent photos of children taken.

Woodland Dist. 50 parents are pleased the school board took disciplinary action against a second-grader who tried to bring guns to school.

Acting at a special meeting on April 3, the board voted to expel the unnamed second-grader through August.

"I guess they handled it in the appropriate way to show an example for other students, but I feel sorry for the girl. It is unfair to her, personally because the family obviously needs some counseling," parent Debbie Kolb said.

Kolb is a parent of a first-grader and knows people who know the expelled student.

The second-grader tried to bring two guns to school but was stopped at a Woodland School bus stop in Park City on March 13. Woodland has a no-tolerance weapons policy and the girl was suspended from school that day. She allegedly told school officials the guns were for a show-and-tell session.

"She may enroll in a home school program under the auspices of Lake County Regional Supt. of Schools. Woodland may supply textbooks, but no services," MaryJo Przygoda, school district spokesperson, said.

The girl's mother was charged with possession of a firearm without a firearm owner's identification card by Park City police. Ammunition was found in the residence.

Park City police report the girl was seen displaying the firearm, a 9 millimeter pistol, to friends at the bus stop at Mary and Fredson avenues just before 8 a.m., March 13.

Tom Hernandez, spokesperson for Illinois Dept. of Education, said state wide in 1995-96, there were 2,208 expulsions. In elementary school, grades kindergarten through eight, there were 635 expulsions, compared to 1,573 high school students.

"It is increasing slightly over the last few years. You are seeing more school districts create zero-tolerance policies and that can be tied to growing discontent with gangs and weapons," Hernandez said.

LaCASA needs art (that) works for new center

When completed, the new LaCASA/Richard Zacharias Center now under construction in Gurnee is going to be a true "work of art." That's why the non-profit organization is soliciting ideas from local painters, illustrators, graphic artists, sculptors, and artists working in other mediums on creating a memorable and defining visual identification piece to serve as permanent signage for the entry drive into the new facility. The chosen artist will receive a permanent thank you in the lobby of LaCASA's new building.

Ideas must be submitted along with concept art and/or a detailed description by May 31 to be considered for use as permanent signage for LaCASA's new headquarters. Contact Sandy Tippet at 623-5613.

Wrinkles and gray hair are next for Cinde

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN PRINGLE

395-6364

Well, a bunch of friends and family gathered together to help Cinde DeBoer celebrate her big 40th birthday with a surprise bash. Hubby Dennis, sister-in-law Diane and friend Kim secretly put everything together and all was kept hush, hush until the unsuspecting birthday girl spotted a friend's car in the parking lot as Dennis was delivering her to the party.

But the loss of the "surprise" was quickly remedied when Cinde's daughter Danah serenaded her mom with her own version of Janis Joplin's Bobby Magee. That is a moment that will stay with many of us for years too come. The drinks and bowling flowed freely all night and all seem to be having a great time at the expense of the birthday girl's most generous husband, what are friends for.

Cinde was duly insulted with all the age-appropriate cards and gifts and the tombstone shaped cake. Surprisingly no canes, walkers, Metamucil, or Wrinkle Creams showed up among the gifts. She did receive several book store gift certificates. Seems some of her friends are tired of losing their books to their cheap, but faithful friend.

The entertainment for the evening began with the fierce competition between Cinde and her brother-in-law Dave. The spirits never dwindled as the two smashed down bowling pins in their effort to humiliate each other and prove who had the most talent. The laughter was in great abundance and the bowling skills deteriorated immensely as the evening progressed. The excuses where flying: sore wrist sore thumb, wrong ball, too much oil on the lanes. Nobody seem to think the consumption of alcoholic beverages or the hour of the morning had anything to do with the impeding skills. Mother-in-law Jean and her sister-in-law Elsie were even bowling into the early hours of the morning. At one point in the evening Jean squealed "I haven't been up this late in ages." Some of us younger folks were thinking the same thing. As Neal and I were leaving the celebration in the wee hours of the morning, the birthday girl was spotted pounding on a vending machine demanding her bag of pretzels. She was a bit late for the party and missed out on the dinner portion of the evening—serves her right for keeping all of us partygoers waiting. By all accounts the evening was a total success.

Even when the "surprise" was foiled, party-planner Kim never got teary eyed-a feat in itself. The evening did run a bit late to where those of us who attended Sunrise Service for Easter Sunday didn't have to bother brushing our teeth in the morning because we hadn't slept long enough to gunk them up. A quick shower and a change of clothes was about all there was time for and some of us still had to play Easter Bunny before the children woke up. It's amazing how creative the Easter Bunny can be when hiding eggs as the sun is coming up over the horizon.

But Cinde, we all had a great time at your party. And now, you are the big four-oh. Senior citizen discounts are just around the corner. Be assured though, you certainly don't look a day over 39, and with some help from your hair dresser and all those Mary Kay products you possess, you will probably be able to hold off looking your age until well into your early 40s. Happy, happy.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Help is closer than you think.

New boats to help clean up waterways

JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

The Fox Waterway Agency received a helping hand from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources in the form of three new workboat to help with spring clean-up operations.

"These boats will be very useful to us as we maintain the 40 miles of river, 6,500 acres of lake and 240 miles of waterfront that we're responsible for," said Agency Chairman Dr. William Dam.

Tony Muzereus, operations engineer for IDNR, explained that the boats were provided to the Agency though an intergovernmental agreement with FWA using the boats for the cost of any maintenance.

"It's a good deal for everyone," Muzereus said. "We're 100 percent behind the work that they (the Agency) are doing up here."

The three boats have a combined cost of $231,544 and were custom-built of 1/4-inch aluminum by the William E. Munson Co., according to specifications laid out by Muzereus and John Lape, the Agency's field supervisor.

Each of the boats has a specialized function. The longest, measuring 30 1/2 feet, is equipped with a crane capable of lifting close to 1,200 pounds and is to be used for dredging operations.

"The crane will mean that we won't need five guys and a chain fall to get something out of the water anymore," said Wayne Blake, one of the Agency's directors.

Agency Director Ron Baker noted that the crane boat's engines could be raised using hydraulic transoms. He added that this was a particularly useful design feature because "95 percent of the work the boat will be doing will be in shallow water."

The second boat, a tug/push capable of a top speed of 40 mph., is powered by two in-board MerCruiser engines. The engines are serviced by a heat exchanger which removes the need for any river water to be used in directly cooling them. Measuring 28 1/2 feet, it will be used to move such equipment as the Agency's barge, booster pump, amphibious backhoe, swamp dozer and work platforms.

The shortest of the three boats, measuring 27 1/2 feet, is designed for buoy placement and has a light manual winch for the removal of small floating hazards.

The new boats are on indefinite loan to the Agency from the IDNR, which would likely only request their temporary return in the case of emergency. Agency officials said there are no plans to conduct towing operations with the new boats.

History buff tells Rotary about Chicago Fire

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Antioch Rotary members were taken back in time to a significant historical event in Illinois history— The Chicago Fire.

Earl Beesely, vice president of the Lakes Region Historical Society, told some little known facts about a fire which killed 125 people and caused $100 million of damage in 1871.

"In 1871 Chicago was regarded as a marvel of its age and had 300,000 residents," Beesely noted.

Beesely mentioned it was a particularly dry year at the time and the city already experienced 30 fires. What may have set up the damage was a fire a day before.

This fire covered a four block area and an estimated $3 million in property was lost.

More significantly, was the condition of the firefighters and the equipment.

"They lost half of their equipment. At that time, after a fire, fireman got boozed up," Beesely noted.

The initial fire call was sounded at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 7.

"Most of the people didn't think much of it when they came home from church services," Beesely said.

However, the observer at city hall erred in the location, costing the fire department an hour.

Beesely added some of people had difficulty moving their items far enough away from the fire. Looters also faced the same problem, many of them were forced to leave by the blaze.

"One women was making breakfast for victims of the fire and didn't get to finish making the breakfast because of the fire," Beesely said.

Some people went to Lake Michigan thinking they would be safe.

"They suffocated because the fire took the oxygen out of the air," he said.

Beesely discovered his great grandfather's wagon shop was spared in the fire. Both his wives great grandparents lost their homes.

He added even the brick and stone building burned because of the intense heat.

Ironically, even though the fire started at the O'Leary barn, the house was spared.

However, their cow perished. A neighbor, Paul Sullivan, could not save the cow.

"He got his wooden foot stuck and he barely escaped with his life," Beesely said.

Park District presents barn dance

An old time barn dance will held 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 12, at the Grayslake Park District's Legion Memorial Building, 42 S. Seymour in downtown Grayslake.

There will be live music provided by the David Adler Cultural Center while the old time dances will be called by veteran caller "Uncle" Roy Reinholds.

Every one with or without square dancing experience is welcome. When needed, the old time dance figures will be walked through before dancing.

Barn dancing differs from modern "mainstream" and "plus" square dancing in that there is always live music at barn dances and the dances are traditional. Costume is not important.

The Legion Building is located just west of the Wisconsin Central Railroad tracks and one-half block south the Center Street, next to the new Grayslake Village Hall. The admission is $4 a person.

For more information about barn dancing, call Reinholds at 223-2081.

Or Tikvah draws many searching for Jewish tradition

Congregation celebrates first service in Gurnee

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff reporter

It was a joyous sight for Alan Mann; the birth of a new Jewish congregation and the first in northern Lake County was finally coming to fruition.

Mann, president of Or Tikvah which means "light of hope," and the six founding families welcomed more people than they had ever expected at the congregation's first informal Shabbat service. They gathered in a room at Condell Acute Care Center in Gurnee and the number of people there proved there is a real need for a congregation in the area.

"I'd like to welcome you all on behalf of all the founding families and hope you'll all be lights of hope," Mann told everyone at the onset of the service. Later on, he noted "tonight that light is burning brilliantly," as they begin a new Jewish community.

Barry Gold, education director for the congregation, spoke following Mann. He contrasted a story of Elijah with the new congregation. Just like Elijah was turned away from the wedding of a rich family when dressed as a beggar, but later welcomed when dressed in the finest clothes, their congregation is just as meaningful without an elaborate temple cloaked in fine furnishings, he explained in his characteristically dramatic style.

The most profound words of fellow founding member Roberta Alexander and his favorite Jewish philosopher were the best way Gold found to express what he felt about the turnout "This is so cool," he told everyone.

It truly was a light of hope for these people, mostly young families with small children. Many don't belong to a congregation and attend services at their parents congregation or are searching for a family oriented congregation in which to raise their children.

"This is so exciting; we didn't expect half this many and that would have pleased us," said Alexis Levin, a founding member.

There were many young children at the Shabbat. Their mothers talked of how they were looking forward to having an accessible Hebrew School to prepare their children for Bar/Bat Mitzvahs. Currently the closest congregations are located in Waukegan and Vernon Hills.

Joy Ellison currently isn't a member of any congregation. She spotted high school classmate Amy Lebovitz after the service and remarked half of the people there were former classmates of theirs from Niles North High School. It did seem like a reunion for many who said they had no idea their old friends all lived in the Gurnee area.

"They're filling a need for many of us . . . it's important for the Jewish tradition to be carried on," said Ellison.

Or Tikvah exists because six families decided they wanted a nearby congregation in their community with a wonderful education program. The founding families include: Shelly and Rob Palmer, Barry and Sara Gold, Neil and Marlene Wolff, Alexis and Jay Levin, Robbin and Jeff Dordick, Roberta and Larry Alexander and President Alan and Robin Mann.

The congregation has hired Barbara Barnet of Wheeling to be their cantor. She is currently the assistant cantor at Congregation Or Shalom in Vernon Hills. Barnet will work with the children who are studying for their Bar Mitzvahs. She is working towards becoming an invested cantor and hopes to finish her training soon.

Mann said they are very excited because they have been loaned a Torah, allowing them to hold Saturday morning services. He emphasized this was a significant event for them because to purchase a Torah would cost the congregation around $30,000. When asked what they thought the next year would hold for the congregation Robbin Dordick responded "A lot of excitement, a lot of fun. Like I mentioned to the board it's almost like leaving a legacy for our own children."

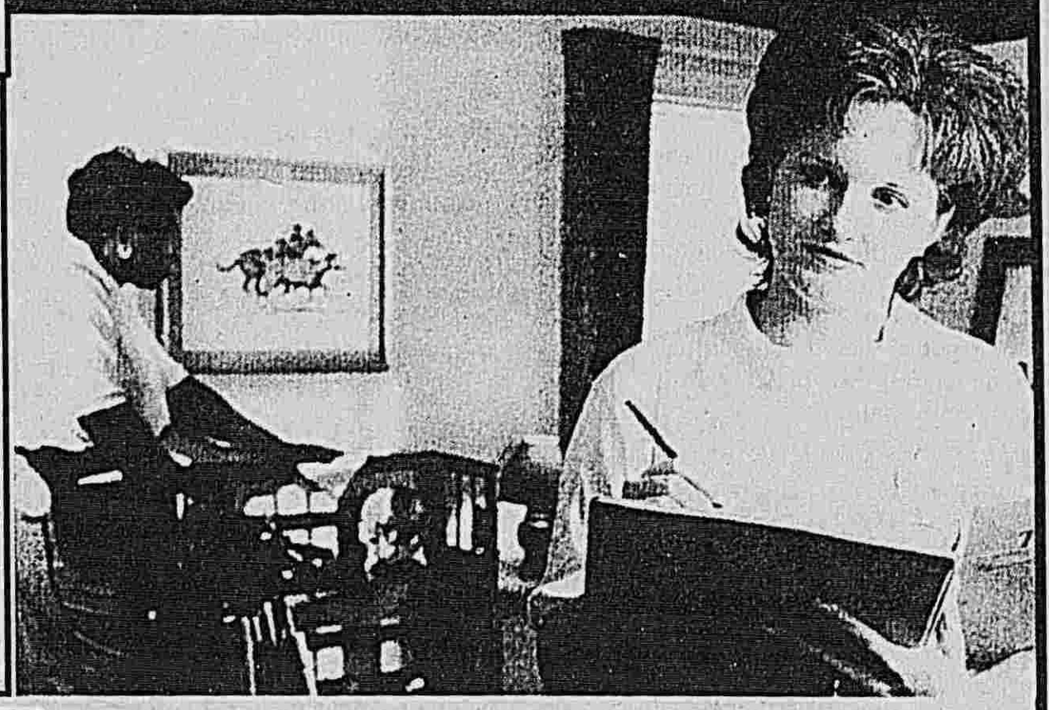

With the larger than expected turnout, close to 200 people, Gold noted they would likely be needing a new meeting place sooner than later if it was indicative of things to come.

The congregation will begin regular Friday night and Saturday morning services in July. They welcome interfaith couples and members from all backgrounds — traditional conservative and reform. Women will be involved and treated equally in the congregation.

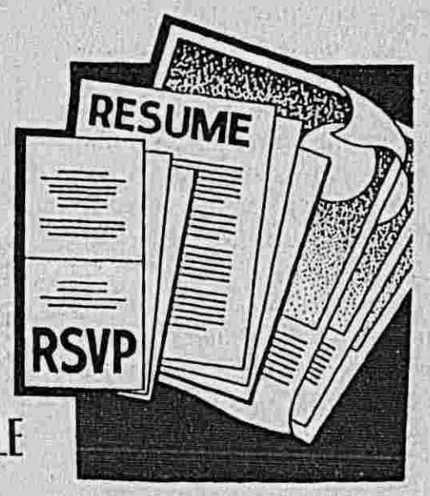

A heavy emphasis will be placed on education for adults and children starting with a preschool program. Gold is an award winning middle school teacher in Grayslake and has been teaching Hebrew School for 10 years. Under his auspices the education program will begin in September at B.J. Hooper School in Lindenhurst. For additional information contact Or Tikvah at 856-1440.

Seabees get busy building ball fields

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa officials are seeking the assistance of the community in their efforts to construct baseball fields for the Lake Villa Township Baseball League.

The effort received a big boost when the Seabee Unit 401, stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Center, agreed to grade the ball field site at no cost.

"This project could not get off the ground without their help," said Glenn McCollum, Lake Villa public works superintendent.

The fields will be located adjacent to the Sun Lake Forest Preserve and the Painted Lakes subdivision, just west of Deep Lake Road on Grass Road.

The Seabees will save the village an estimated $120,000 on grading cost, according to McCollum.

"This is a great training experience for the CBU unit," said Thomas Eberhardt, officer first class in charge of the CBU Unit 401.

"This is the type of job we are expected to do," said Louis Fuller, equipment operator second class.

The 14-acre site will eventually have four diamonds, two for little league and two for pony leagues.

"We hope to have two of the fields ready in two years," McCollum said.

It took four years of negotiation with the forest preserve for the village to finally take possession of the site. The original agreement called for an area designated for playing fields to be turned over to the village.

That did not happen, as Forest Preserve officials refused to give the property to the village until the village agreed to a land swap which allowed an addition to the Grant Woods Forest Preserve. The village paid $85,000 toward the land cost.

Already area businesses are feeling the community spirit and pitching in to assist the project. SOS Well Drilling provided the silt fencing, Greg Larson Excavating will handle the final grading and Applied Technology has donated engineering services.

Besides baseball fields, village officials are looking to open a 30 - by-30-foot building for a restaurant concession. They are seeking donations of used restaurant equipment.

The tentative date for completion of the grading is Oct. 15.

ACHS expects to hold line on student fees

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School fees are expected to remain almost the same next year.

The school board discussed fees in committee session and are likely to approve them at the April 17 board meeting.

"All fees are virtually the same as this year," said Superintendent Dennis Hockney.

Hockney noted fees will actually drop for physical education uniform because the school received a better price for the following year.

The only increase is in summer school. The four day a week summer school price is expected to rise from $90 to $93 while the five-day summer school will go up from $105 to $108.

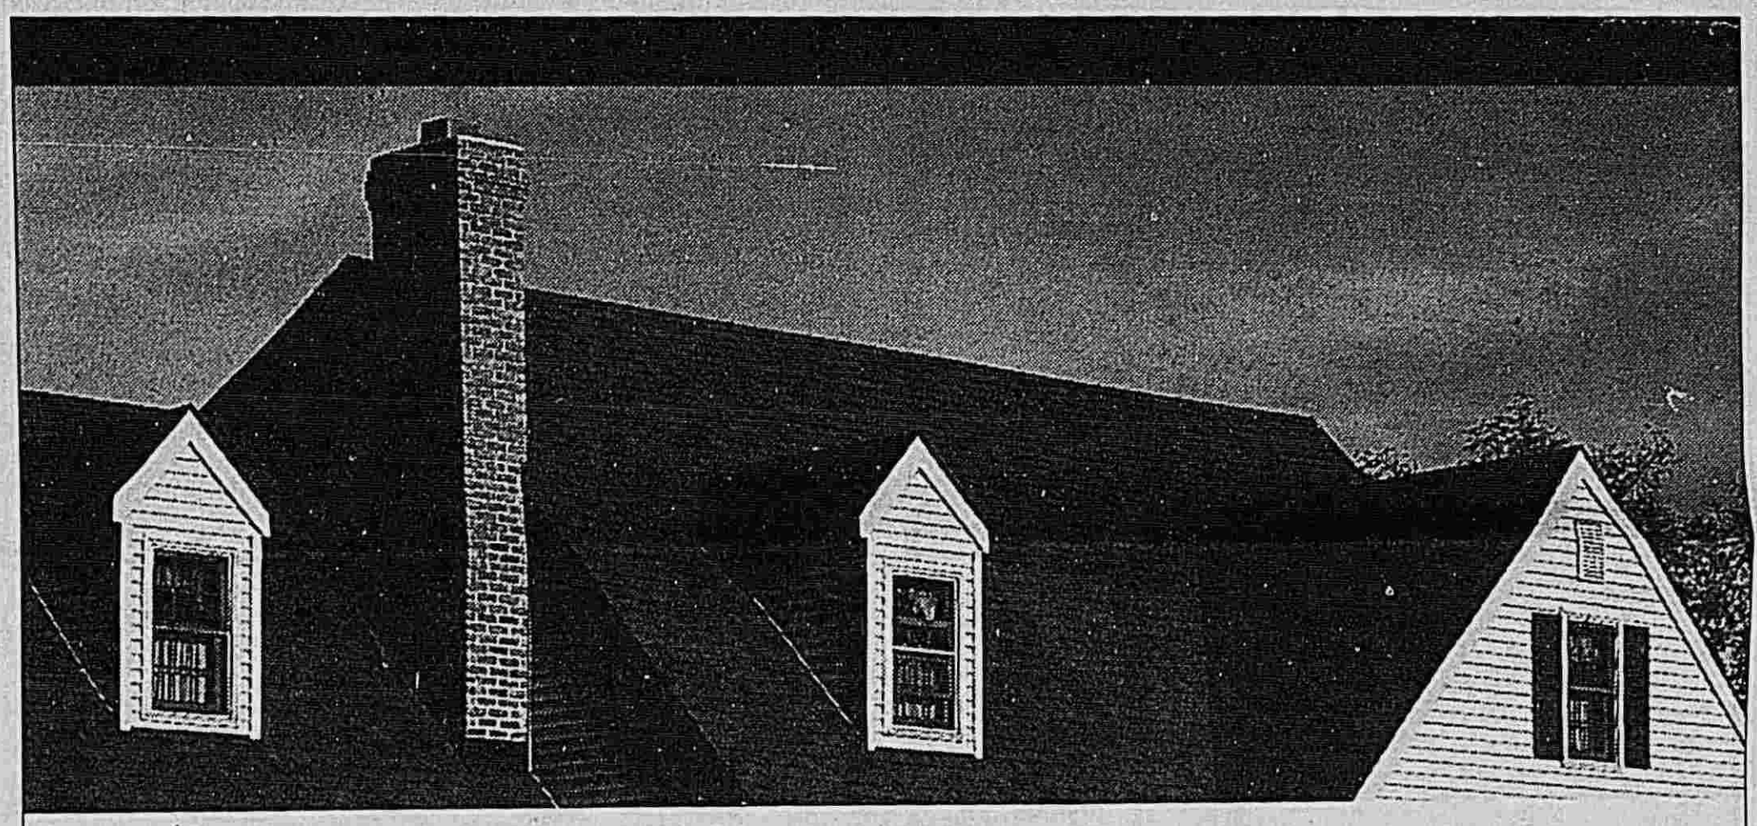

In other business, the board looked at staffing needs for the upcoming school year, and is expected to add only a part-time teacher to existing staff next year, according to Hockney.

"Enrollment will be about the same next year," Hockney said.

The board also is likely to approve the school calendar for the following year.

The beginning date will be Aug. 26 and the ending date is planned for June 12. However, the board is projecting five days the school is closed for the June 12 date.

Winter break will run from Dec. 22-Jan. 2 and spring break is slated for March 30- April 3.

Township response takes a year

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

It took a year for the Antioch Township Board to act on resolutions approved by township electors last year.

While there were an estimated 30 people in attendance, the annual Antioch Township Town Meeting was a lot quieter this year. Last year, residents came to the board armed with resolutions aimed at opening information, asked for a plan commission, asked for a salary freeze of public officials and for officials to be docked pay if they miss meetings.

The board decided to approve one of the resolutions from the public. That one called for the time of the meeting to be changed from 6 to 7:30 p.m., according to Richard Harlan, township clerk.

Township Attorney Larry Clark was on hand to describe why the other recommendations couldn't be approved by the board.

"They were resolutions the electorate could not legally make," Harlan said.

Last year, Jim Fields, township supervisor, stressed the electors can't tell the township clerk how to do his job.

The electors were seeking copies of township bills, and that township records become available without having to fill out a Freedom of Information Request.

Harlan has said he felt the FOIA request is the fairest way to handle information inquiries.

There will be two new trustees, a new supervisor and a new clerk seated in May.

Tim Osmond, supervisor-elect, has called for more communication with residents and publishing meeting dates.

provide the data," Hockney said.

Kressner took a different view. He noted Grayslake was willing to discuss options while Antioch officials were more cautious.

"They were willing to discuss something that wouldn't cost them any money," Kressner said of Antioch officials.

He added if District 41 were to attempt to create their own unit plan, it would receive a cold reception, especially since Antioch will eventually be looking for another building referendum in few years down the road.

"It's really unfortunate we couldn't come up with something; now we have a really screwed up situation," Kressner said.

Grayslake High School officials are concerned a unit district would create a financial hardship on the district based on the education laws.

Kressner stressed both districts have borrowed substantial sums of money to finance additions without going to the voters. These options have strapped both districts for cash.

"They couldn't afford to lose our assessed valuation," he said.

If a unit district was created, it would require both the Antioch and Grayslake High Schools pay the new district a portion of each school's assets in relation to the attendance from District 41.

Facilitator Paul Thorston of the University of Illinois has agreed to facilitate any further discussions the group may have.

The group received a financial study on the operating costs of the districts' three months ago on five options. None of those options exists because none of the members could come to a consensus on any one item.

Hockney added Antioch High School officials are willing to discuss any new proposal which may arise.

To those who placed their name on my petition, those who placed a sign in their yard, those who gave a financial contribution, those who made many phone calls on my behalf, those who voiced their support to a neighbor, those who gave me words of encouragement and MOST OF ALL THOSE WHO VOTED ON APRIL 1ST.

I AM TRULY GRATEFUL!

Respectfully,

ACHS Sequoits netters outlast Rams

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

With the energy gained from playing on just refurbished courts, Antioch High's tennis team started the home season on a bright note as it edged Grayslake 3-2 in a non-conference match.

At No. 1 singles, sophomore J.J. Edwards of Antioch defeated Tyler Herring of Grayslake 6-4, 7-6. "J.J., a returning varsity doubles player, seemed to out power his opponent with his baseline play. For most of the match, J.J. stayed on the baseline and hit down the line and cross court shots with authority," said second-year coach Bryan Plinske.

At second singles, ACHS's Chris Phillips, a senior, lost to Ben Traver of the Rams, 6-4, 6-1. "Chris played a strong game and I was impressed with his ability to track down everything and make strong returns. Chris had an abbreviated pre-season due to an injury and in a week or so will be up to regular season form," said Plinske.

At first doubles, Antioch players Erik Lips and Steve Drengler, a junior and a senior, and both returning letter winners in doubles, defeated David Leekman and Ray Sweeney in a battle 6-4, 6-7, 7-2 tie break. "Erik and Steve's strengths are their net play and their ability to communicate on the court. It was as if they were connected by an invisible rope. If one had to go back, the other would automatically be in the right position to support his partner. The third set was determined by a tie breaker due to darkness. For the first match of the season, it shows the kind of heart the kids have," said Plinske.

Another three-set battle took place at second doubles and ACHS came out on top again. Senior Kevin Chudd and junior Kevin Ward downed Greg Durkin and Kevin Linch 6-2, 5-7, 6-1. "It was great to see them take this victory because Chudd had an abbreviated pre-season due to injury. "It seemed as if Chudd would set their opponents up from the baseline and Ward would knock them down from the net," said Plinske.

At third doubles, Andrew Dohrmann and Brandon Polheber lost to Eric Plautz and Pete Kupfer 6-2, 6-4. The ACHS players are walk-ons in their first high school match.

Overall, Plinske is pleased with the first-day of work. "It feels great," he said.

ACHS girls track squad shows promise in splitting meets

A more talent-rich and deeper girls track and field squad could make for an interesting spring at Antioch.

"We are deeper than we ever have been before. In the past, we struggled for that fourth person for relays. Now we have back-ups," said ACHS coach Kathy Kelly.

Antioch split its first two dual meets. A 96-45 loss to Woodstock April 2 was followed with a 93-48 win over Cary-Grove April 4.

The Sequoits are preparing for the Lake County meet at Grayslake on April 12.

Distance specialist Linana Rothermel won the 3,200 meters in 12:23.8 against Cary and the 1,600 in 5:46.2.

"She ran a 12:09 against Woodstock, but she took it easy against Cary-Grove. We would like to see her push hard all the time," said Kelly.

Katie Rogers, the Sequoits shot put and discus specialist, was second in the shot put and discus against Cary. She had a 33-6 in the shot put, 89-10 in the discus. "She has improved her bests. We are looking to get her to the 100s in the discus," said Kelly.

Sophomore Cindy Aikus contributed in a relay and won the triple jump against Cary.

Kelly commented there are some freshmen and new sophomores on the team who could be making strides soon. ACHS squad consists of 40 members.

According to Kelly, Stevenson, Libertyville and Zion-Benton and Warren are the teams to beat in the North Suburban. "We are fighting to finish third or fourth," said Kelly.

Antioch softball squad finds groove in victories

The stiff competition faced by Antioch High's girls softball team may be paying some dividends.

The Sequoits improved to 3-6 on the year with a three-game winning streak. Wins came over Grant, McHenry and Cary-Grove in non-conference action.

"We are playing a lot better. Against McHenry, we did not have any errors and had nine hits," said ACHS coach Steve Wapon.

McHenry fell 3-1 April 3 and Cary-Grove was a 6-3 victim April 4.

Jamie Silarski started and improved to 2-3 on the year against the Warriors. The senior struckout five and walked two.

Kristin Scopel had a double, single and RBI as she kept her average near .500.

ACHS's McCullom shows skills with his bat, pitching

Brett McCullom was a tad nervous being a sophomore on the varsity baseball team at Antioch High School.

"I was nervous, but not after I started hitting the ball," he said.

He hit and pitched well as Antioch evened its record at 3-3 with a 12-0 whitewash of Grant in a non-conference game April 3. The sophomore fired a one-hitter and had three hits as ACHS beat Grant in just four and one-half innings due to the 10-run slaughter rule.

McCullom was a frequent visitor to the Grand Slam hitting cages this winter, and his efforts paid off with a three home run game against Waukegan. He had two doubles against Grant—the first made for a 4-0 ACHS margin; the second came in a game-winning six-run fourth inning.

"I like them both about the same," he said of hitting and pitching. "Today my off-speed stuff was working well. I worked at the Grand Slam with Glenn Jewell (Round Lake coach)," said McCullom.

"He was very consistent with his mechanics. He mixed his speeds well. Success breeds success and it helps with the kind of defense he has behind him," said Antioch coach Paul Petty.

Specifically, third baseman Stu Johnson, shortstop Chris Groth, second baseman Mike Sodaro and first baseman Erick Bubash all scooped up Grant's grounders. McCullom, formerly of Lake Villa, fanned three Grant hitters.

"Johnson and Groth help me out a lot. It is nice to have them on the left side," said McCullom.

Greg Crandall had Grant's lone hit a single in the fourth. Grant faced a near no-hitter by Mundelein's Scott Leuders the day before in a 5-1 loss as Grant is 0-3 to start the season.

The top of the order keyed a 16-hit attack for Antioch. Lead-off man Pat Ewert was 4-for-4 with a walk, two runs scored and got on base five times. Groth, who hits second, was 4-for-5 with two stolen bases and two doubles. Adam Bubash had four RBIs.

Bubash was pleased with the win, but realized that conference play looms ahead.

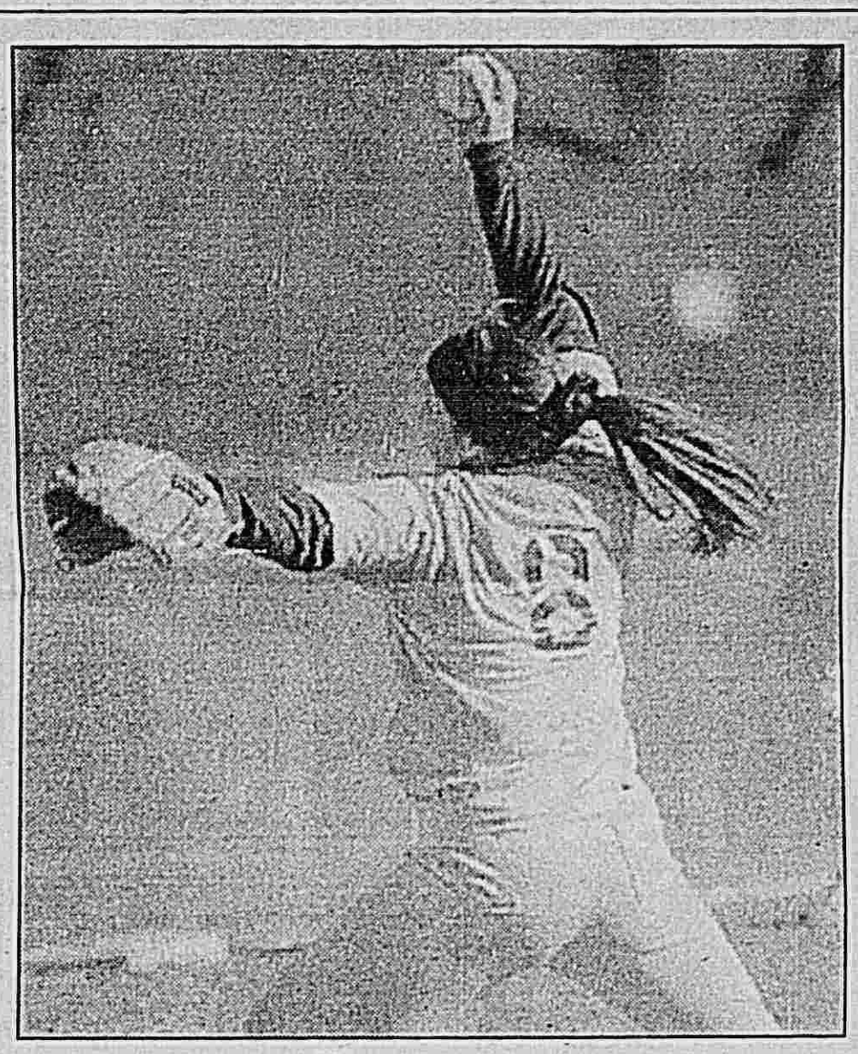

"That was his best effort. We have been working on his bat control, hand control and working to hit to the opposite field," said Petty of Bubash.

Bubash had a two-run double for a 4-0 lead in the first inning and ACHS was on its way. ACHS had a six-run fourth inning in a 75-minute game.

The Sequoits were trying to hit the ball to the right side of Grant's defense throughout the game.

"Everything that worked for us was right and center. As far as I am concerned, pulling the ball is a thing of the past," said Bubash.

In earlier action, ACHS lost 8-2 to McHenry April 2.

ACHS junior varsity notches wins

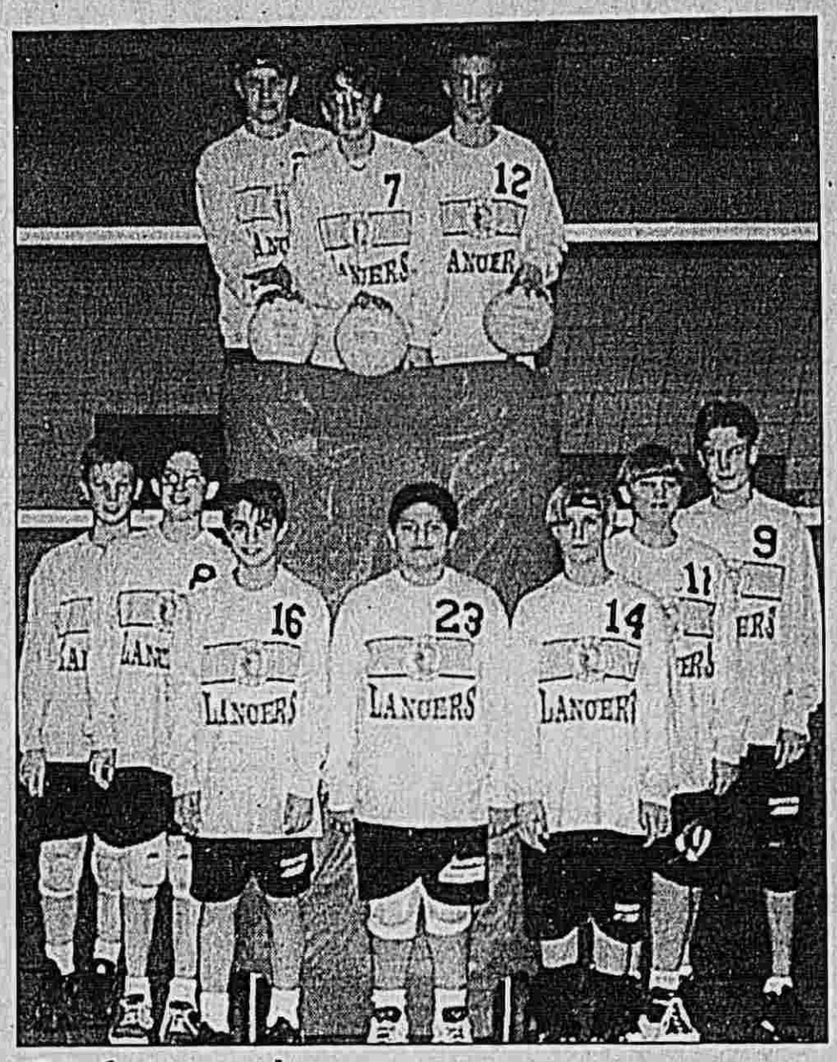

Antioch Community High School's junior varsity softball team began the season winning three of their first four games.

In the season opener, the young Sequoits bested Grant 11-7. Kristin Scopel pitched the distance, allowing six hits and seven runs with 15 strikeouts. The Sequoit offense was led by Carrie Hagglund, with two doubles and three RBIs, and Melissa Dietz who added two singles and two RBIs.

The Lady Sequoits then traveled to McHenry and came home with a 16-2 win. Megs Kotlarz had a big day both on the mound and at the plate. She scattered three hits, allowing only two runs for the game, while hitting a double and a home run with three RBIs. Hagglund added a triple and a single with a pair of RBIs. Becky Birren had a double and two singles. Also contributing to the Sequoits hitting game were Dana Spandet and Mandy Made with two singles each.

On Friday, the Antioch diamond girls played host to Cary-Grove, and ended the week with a 16-11 win.

Antioch hosts Carmel on April 9. The Lady Sequoits are at Elgin St. Edward on April 14 and at Woodstock on April 15.

Goochs leads Antioch High School's efforts on the track

Youth will be served with some large doses of experience as the Antioch High track and field team goes with the youth movement this spring.

"This is a rebuilding year, but the older athletes do always help the younger ones," said ACHS coach Norm Hahn.

Dave Gooch is back after a state-qualifying year in the discus. The junior had a throw of 120 feet, 5 inches in the season opener against Woodstock. ACHS lost the dual 84-50.

Gooch is also competing in the 100 and 200-meters.

Gooch is joined on the team by brother Quinn, a freshman. Quinn was second in the long jump against the Blue Streaks, six inches off the ACHS freshman mark. He also competes in the quarter-mile and 200-meters.

"He is a good worker and he should fit right in," said Hahn. "I wish we could have had a decathlon for them."

Junior Bryan Potter won the shot put against Woodstock with a 45-5 heave.

Jason Jenison turned in another good effort in the field with a 49-9 1/2 effort in the shot put.

The team also includes a group of juniors, including Elliott Koesling and Mike Castiglia who are competing in the pole vault.

Sophomores are Erick Meyers and Adam Podstawa, who will both compete in the relays with Meyers also lining up in the blocks for the400.

"We don't have many distance people. That is an area we have been strong in the past," said Hahn.

There are 65 athletes in the track and field program. Hahn is in his 19th year as head coach, 26th overall.

According to Hahn, Libertyville and Zion-Benton are the favorites in the North Suburban Conference, and Antioch will use those teams as a measuring stick.

Sarah Rockow also at .500, had two singles and an RBI. Silarski had a walk, single and RBI. Laura Deutsch contributed a walk and a single as did Elizabeth Koeck.

Scopel started against Cary-Grove as the Sequoits went with a pitcher-by-committee format. The winning pitcher went three innings, gave up three hits, one run and struckout three batters. Stephanie Haenchen pitched the next two and gave up three hits, one earned run and one unearned run. Silarski followed for the final inning in a six-inning game due to darkness.

Jenny Piefer had two RBIs on a single and a double; Angie Pederson contributed a single and a double; Silarski had three singles and Nicole Langley two singles.

"We hit the ball well - that was nice to see," said Wapon.

Fresh faces set to defend JHS

A new cast of players will be trying to defend the Northwest Suburban Conference baseball crown Johnsburg won last year.

The Skyhawks have had split results in its first four games, gaining, a win, two losses and a tie.

"We are a real young team. We lost each position player to graduation," said coach Ed Sennett.

The win came in a 7-4 decision over Richmond-Burton. Todd Mikelionis, a senior, came on and pitched 5 1/3 innings and secured the decision. He struckout two, walked two and surrendered two hits against the Rockets.

Johnsburg lost to Harvard 7-4.

Jeff Dobbertin, a senior second baseman, is off to a good start hitting. He is batting .400 with a home run and two doubles.

"We have to get good pitching. The defense has been sound so far, but we need more hitting," said Sennett.

Johnsburg opens NWSC play at home with Wauconda April 12 at 1:30 p.m.

will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder:

The sale will be held at Suite 2720, 30 North LaSalle St., Chicago, Illinois. The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development will bid $91,798.89.

There will be no proration of taxes, rents or other income or liabilities, except that the purchaser will pay, at or before closing, his prorata share of any real estate taxes that have been paid on the project by the Secretary to the date of the foreclosure sale.

When making their bid, all bidders except the Secretary must submit a deposit totaling $9,179.89 (10% of the Secretary's bid) in the form of a certified check or cashier's check made out to the Secretary of HUD. Each oral bid need not be accompanied by a deposit. If the successful bid is oral, a deposit of $9,179.89 must be represented before the bidding is closed. The deposit is non-refundable. The remainder of the purchase price must be delivered within 30 days of the sale or at such other time as the Secretary may determine for good cause shown, time being of the essence. This amount, like the bid deposits, must be delivered in the form of a certified or cashier's check. If the Secretary is the high bidder, he need not pay the bid amount in cash. The successful bidder will pay all the conveyancing fees, all real estate and other taxes that are due on or after the date of closing and all other costs associated with the transfer of title. At the conclusion of the sale, the deposits of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them.

The Secretary may grant an extension of time within which to close. All extensions will be for 30 days, and a fee will be charged in the amount of 1.5% of the unpaid balance of the purchase price or HUD's holding costs, whichever is greater.

The extension fee shall be paid in the form of a certified or cashier's check made payable to the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. If the high bidder closes the sale prior to the expiration of any extension period, the unused portion of the extension fee shall be applied toward the amount due at closing.

If the high bidder is unable to close the sale within the required period, or within any extensions of time granted by the Secretary, the high bidder's deposit will be forfeited, and the Commissioner may, at the direction of the HUD Field Office Representative, offer the Project to the second highest bidder for an amount equal to the highest price offered by that bidder. All other terms of the sale would remain the same. If the second highest bidder rejects the Commissioner's offer, the Field Office Representative will provide instructions to the Commissioner about cancellation of the sale or other action to be taken.

Singing his praises

Musicians come together to aid well-known entertainer Frankie Merle

Shh!

The music you hear in the background is a secret.

Several members of the Lake County Musicians Union are warming up for a benefit for one of their own— Frankie Merle— and it's a surprise.

Merle, 72, is now confined to a wheelchair due to crippling arthritis and inoperable hip replacement surgery, but if you listen real close you can still hear him belting out a tune on his trombone or crooning his favorite Frank Sinatra songs.

Merle has been a well-known fixture on the Chicago area music scene since the early 1960s specializing in big band sounds, Dixieland and swing.

"Frankie just loved to play music, it was his life," said Al Ramsey, former band member. "His idea of having a good time was going some place and sitting back and playing."

Ramsey joined Merle's band "The Carpetbaggers" in 1963 at the age of 24.

"We played Dixieland mostly," Ramsey recalled. "We became close personal friends and did a lot together over the years. It seems our paths were always crossing." Today, Ramsey works with computers by day and plays with the Banjo Buddies by night. Ramsey will be one of several musicians entertaining Merle and guests at a benefit in his honor April 20 at the Antioch Moose Lodge. The event begins at noon and will include several presentations in honor of Merle.

Editor in Chief

The Frankie Merle benefit is being organized by Ken and Judy Mazzuca of Antioch. Ken also happens to be Merle's brother-in-law. Merle has been married to Judy's youngest sister, Delores, for more than 20 years.

"We are going to present Frank with a special electric scooter and excel stairway lift system which will allow Frank the capability of getting out when weather permits," Mazzuca said. "When I realized the problems Frankie had and that they couldn't operate any more, I wanted to get his friends together and do something that would help him out."

Mazzuca has been working on the benefit for the past two months along with William Aredia, governor of the Antioch Moose Lodge; Fred Chapman, administrator of the lodge; Ken Bronder, who is printing tickets and posters publicizing the event; and Roy Zeman, kitchen chair for the Moose lodge.

"I think Frank is a real showman," Mazzuca said. "Everytime he was on stage, he put in a 100 percent effort. He lived for that."

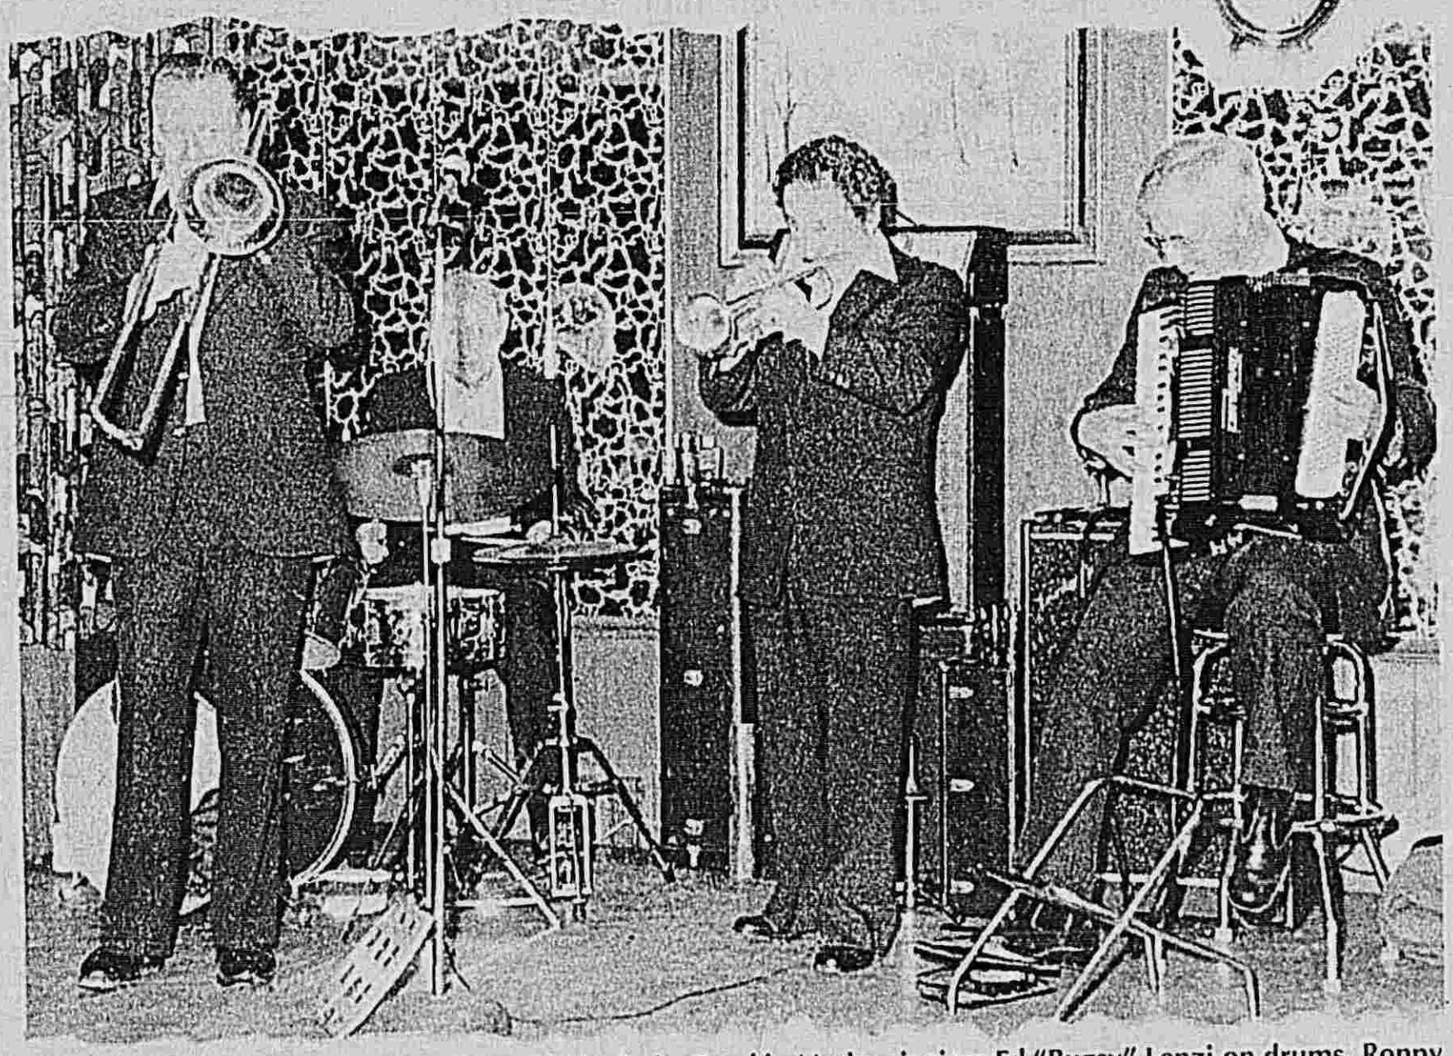

Mazzuca said Merle's many operations have tapped him and his wife, Delores financially.

"Frank was always one of the first people to help anyone who needed anything," Mazzuca said. "He was always playing for benefits for other people and

Frankie Merle has been entertaining audiences throughout the Chicagoland area for more than 30 years on the trombone and with his renditions of Frank Sinatra songs.

Original members of the Dixieland Marks include: Frankie Merle, singing; Ed "Bugsy" Lenzi on drums, Ronny Price on the trumpet and Lee Frank on keys.

What's New In Las Vegas?

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Las Vegas. It may not be for everyone, but everyone needs to see it once.

It seems, too, that everyone is visiting Las Vegas. There are many times when all of its 100,000 hotel rooms (more than any single city in the country) are full! Every year bigger hotels are being built (it's already home to nine of the world's ten largest hotels), and every year the average Las Vegas hotel (if there is such a thing) still maintains an 88.2 percent occupancy rate.

One of the newest hotels on the strip, and one I highly recommend, is the New York New York. It's across the street from both the Excalibur and the MGM Grand, on the south end of the strip. Just look for the 150 foot Statue of Liberty. Then, enter the replica to the New York public library and traverse the 300 foot-long bridge to the hotel.

Under construction where the Dunes once stood (they blew that one up awhile ago) is the new Bellagio. Owned by the Mirage, the Bellagio, at $1.3 billion, will be the most expensive resort to be built in Las Vegas. In fact, Mirage Resorts chairman, Steve Wynn, goes a little further. He promises this will be "the single most extravagant hotel ever built on Earth." Bellagio is named for a resort town on the shores of Lake Como in Italy. Since there is no lake on the 126 acre site, Wynn is having one built. Remember, Las Vegas is in the desert! Planned, too, is a $35 million dancing waters spectacular that will shoot streams of water 160 feet into the air.

In Las Vegas, even signs cost into the millions. The Hilton is rebuilding (it blew down in a wind storm in '94) a $9 million marquee which, at 164 feet wide and 28 feet high, will be the largest free-standing sign in the world. Let's hope it stays standing this time.

With the heavy traffic on the strip, it's getting dangerous to cross the street. No problem. The County is starting to construct underground tunnels so you can get from Caesars to Bally's, or the Flamingo to the new Ballagio, with all limbs intact.

One last note. While still one of the least expensive vacations around, you're going to pay a little more for your Las Vegas package this year. Two big Las Vegas tour operators, Apple Vacation and MTI Vacations have dropped their Las Vegas packages. With less competition, the remaining suppliers have raised prices slightly.

Planting time is finally here

Gardener's Journal

by Lydia Huff

"April showers bring May flowers." Finally, spring has sprung! This is a busy season for gardeners. There are many things to get accomplished.

Last week we spoke about seeding lawns. This is an ideal time to fertilize (with an herbicide) if you have not already done so. Remember, dethatch. It's most important for healthy, disease resistant turf.

As the weather warms and the soil has dried, begin to turn over vegetable and annual flower beds. I use a spiked fork. It works great. Clumps of dirt are easily broken up with one.

While turning over, remember to incorporate plenty of organic material. I can't emphasize this enough! Start saving kitchen scraps, (no meat by products, please!) for the compost pile. If you have a large garden you do not have to turn over the entire garden in one day. Make it manageable. I do mine in sections. Have a plan on paper, and turnover the space where early, tender crops will be sown first.

Lettuce, onions, radishes and sweet peas can be sown now. If you sow some seed (i.e. lettuce) every two weeks you will have a continuous supply well into summer.

As soon as perennials show growth fertilize them. Now is a good time to purchase perennial stock. Look for healthy, established plants. Resist the urge to purchase annuals too early. If they cannot be planted shortly after purchase they become root bound, dry out and do not perform well in the garden.

Later blooming perennials can be divided now. It's a good time to ask your neighbor for a clump of that Shasta Daisy or mum you've been admiring.

If a fence or deck surrounding your garden needs paint or stain do it now, before plants are established.

Once the plants take off they are harder to protect from overspray. Cover them with plastic sheeting, while painting or staining.

If we do not get enough rain keep seedlings and flowers watered. Follow directions when fertilizing and keep an eye out for insect damage. Hot pepper spray works to deter critters from munching on tender plants. If applicable protect young plants from late frosts. Plastic sheeting or cloches made from plastic gallon milk jars work great. It's a good idea to keep them on hand. We have been known to have frosts as late at May 26.

Many gardeners risk planting in late April and early May, but have ample protection near by. If you have any "tricks of the trade," I'd like to hear about them.

Get busy! Until next time, peace.

Movie Pick

Pitt, Ford have 'Devil' of a time

The story is an interesting, if at times implausible one, but it is the film's two leading men who carry "The Devil's Own."

If you had any doubt that Brad Pitt is more than just an unkempt pretty face, his performance as an IRA terrorist, sent to the United States to bring back arms, is just about perfect. His Irish accent is a fine and a consistent one, and the gamut of emotions he carries his character through is award-winning stuff.

Harrison Ford, on the other hand, brings the audience no surprises, just his usual dynamic delivery as the American Irish cop who unwittingly harbors the terrorist.

While a less scuzzy and tremendously attractive Pitt heads for a confrontation with a sleazy arms dealer played by Treat Williams, Ford is battling his own demons when he covers for a partner who shoots an unarmed thief in the back.

Ford finds out that Pitt is more than an immigrant when terrorists invade his home looking for Pitt and the money for the arms. Pitt soon becomes the object de search of the FBI, the New York Police, and the arms dealers.

If all terrorists looked and acted like Pitt, we're afraid you'd find many ladies hoping for a highjack, etc.

Although the action in this thriller is so laid back at times it becomes a drag, just watching and listening to these two talented hunks will be enough for most movie goers, at least those of the female persuasion.

We give the "R" rated "Devil's," four out of five stars. Ford, Pitt, excitement, "what's not to enjoy!"—by GLORIA DAVIS

PM&L's 'Jesus Christ Superstar' is stirring rock opera

Jim Mahr from Trevor, Wis. portrays Jesus, Ned O'Reilly from Crystal Lake as Judas, and Jennifer Biel Franco from Mundelein, as Mary Magdalene in PM&L's production of "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Ken Smouse, of Antioch, has directed yet another hit at PM&L Theatre. "Jesus Christ Superstar" is a joyous and moving portrayal of Jesus' life as he tries to woo the people into trusting and believing in him through the language of music.

As the cast enters the stage in their colorful '60s "hippie" costumes, the music begins, and the audience whispers with wonders of what is going on, I thought this was a Biblical opera? But as Musical Director Tracy Teltz Kiederlen leads the orchestra and the cast burst into song and dance, the audience is found stretching their necks to see more of what is going on on stage as they hold on to each other in amazement of the wonderful talent they are watching.

James Mahr, Jr. from Trevor, Wis. plays Jesus. His soft and sweet voice keeps the audience captivated until he puts all his heart and soul into the song and one just sits back and proclaims—Wow! Mahr has been capturing audiences for 15 years singing in area rock bands.

As the story unfolds and the cast is crying, begging, crawling through the aisles to try to get Jesus to help them and look to him for all the answers, Jesus begins to be overwhelmed and frustrated, when Mary Magdalene enters to soothe him with a song. Mary, played by Jennifer Biel Franco of Mundelein sings "I don't know how to love him" in a tender scene which surely brings tears to the entire audience.

The opera continues with Judas, played by Ned O'Reilly from Crystal Lake as he is troubled, scared and angry with Jesus, for it his job to turn his friend into the authorities who all fear this new leader and king of the Jews. Judas puts his whole heart and soul in his singing where the audience wants to cry out, "don't do it, leave Jesus be!"

The stars of the play naturally receive most of the credit in all reviews. But with the large cast of "Jesus Christ Superstar" they all deserve a standing ovation, and their name mentioned for the dedication and wonderful talent that is found on a local theatre stage.

Kurt Gamlin and Randy Margison, priests; Bruce Weise, Capaiphas; Fran Jansta, Annas; A.J. Flores, Simon Zealotes; Rob Weckler, Pilate; Eric Rohde, Peter; Anna Johansson, maid; Karl Heilgeist, soldier; Steve Willding, old man; Peter Pintozzi, Herod.

The Apostles are: Scott Badtke, Michael Bleeke, Chet Celenza, Bill Glielmi, Karl Heilgeist, Jerod Howard, Kenelm Scheske, Nicholas Staten, Steve Willding. The women are: Maggie Attiyeh, Deanne Dalgaard, Collene D. Griffith, Linda Mason. Soul girls are: Christine Bussel, Alice Bryne, Laurie Faith Gibson, Jackie Hendrixson, Marie Dolores Johnson, Beth Shehorn, Amanda Sliker, Jenny Beese Bliker.

PM&L Theatre's "Jesus Christ Superstar" should be placed on your must see list.

The theatre is located at 877 Main St., Antioch. Remaining performances are April 11, 12, 18, 19 at 8 p.m. and April 13, 20 at 2:30 p.m. with an extra show added for April 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Getting kids prepared for divorce will ease transition

Dear Dr. Singer,

I'm divorced and going crazy! My husband doesn't have the same rules in his house as in mine and my son gets everything he wants there. When he comes home he is out of control. How can I get my husband to understand that we have to get this on track? S.T.

Dear Dr. Singer,

My husband and I are getting a divorce and are unsure of how to explain this to our kids. We have a 7 and 9 year old. We want to make sure that we tell them the right way. Can you help? P.P.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer, Psy.D.
Licensed Clinical Psychologist

Dear S.T.,

This is a common question I hear a lot of. I usually suggest that the parent who is being the "Disneyland" parent or the one who gives all the good stuff and lets the child get away with things, think about what future implications this will have.

Kids that get everything they want due to a divorce tend to grow up expecting the same treatment. This can become quite out of control and difficult. You're obviously concerned that your child have the best possible future, however, if you want to get through to your ex-spouse a little better, try this: a child that is never taught to earn for himself or be responsible, usually tends to be living with you much longer than you would like. While we all love our kids, at some point, we want them independent so that we aren't having to fend for them.

Kids that get everything they want from one parent usually go back to that one parent for everything they want throughout time! Most parents I know don't really want this for their child's or their future. I run a behavior program that has been really successful even with divorced couples. We set up the same program in each home so that the transition is smoother for the child, easier on the parents and the rules are the same in both places.

This program ends to bring even divorced parents closer in thinking. This improves kid's behavior tremendously. If you're interested in more information on the behavior program, call me.

Dear P.P.,

Your concern is admirable and getting your children prepared ahead of time will help. First you should know that kids are very resilient and will adjust. The kids I've met seem to have several fears when it comes to divorce. One fear is that they will not get to see one or the other parent at all. Another fear kids have is that they somehow caused the divorce or that it is their fault.

First, we need to reassure kids that divorce in no way, shape or form, is ever their fault. Let them off the hook! I usually ask parents to make sure to try and keep the child's life as stable as possible. Try to keep the school, home, friends, neighborhoods, etc. the same in the child's life as much as can be done. The less adjustments the better.

More importantly, the child needs to know that he or she will have free access to both parents. Baring a physically abusive or sexually abusive situation, the children need both parents. Many times, I see two parents feuding with each other who cannot believe that a child might still like or love the other parent. The truth is, your battle is between you and your spouse. Not between your spouse and child. Your child loves both of you and should. Therefore, if the child is kept out of the adult situation as much as possible and is allowed to believe that both parents will be accessible, the child usually adjusts better. If you make your child feel safe and then follow through, things should be OK. You might also want to do this in a therapist's office sine things can come up.

Benefit

was always the one instrumental in getting other musicians to play for him."

Ramsey agrees. "I haven't played too many benefits, and the ones I did were probably all with Frankie. It has to be a worthy cause for me to play a benefit. I really wanted to be a part of this one for Frank."

One of Ramsey's fondest memories of playing with Merle is the time they played backup for Frankie Lane during a performance at Great Lakes Naval Training Center in the late 1960s.

"Frankie came into town and they needed local musicians to play with him," said Ramsey. "Frankie and I got set up for the gig."

In the early 1970s, the Marks of Dixieland began their association at Old Ki's Tap in Waukegan. Lee Frank joined up with Merle as a keyboard player in the band.

At 76, Lee Frank is still actively playing music and will join the New Peptones on stage during the benefit.

"Frank did a lot of parities on songs, he was known for that and for his love of Frank Sinatra tunes," Lee Frank said. "He wouldn't announce he was going to sing Sinatra tunes, he'd just burst into song and people would start looking around wondering where it was coming from."

Frank said Merle always preferred the more outgoing tunes such as "Black Magic," "New York, New York" and "I got You Under my Skin."

, "A lot of smart aleck people would joke that maybe Frank should stick to singing and me to telling my corny jokes," Frank said. "We played Willows in Kenosha and the Kenosha Moose Lodge for many years in the 1980s.

The Marks of Dixieland were also known to audiences at The Old Swedish Glee Club in Waukegan; Lake Villa VFW and at Hunter's Country Club in Richmond.

Merle and his band members along with many other local musicians, played at many jam sessions on Sundays at the Old North Shore Resort in Antioch and at Al & Olgas, known to many as "Nutty's" just west of the tracks in Lake Villa.

Merle also played on the Dutch Winslow recordings of "Back in Your Own Backyard" and "My Wife the Dancer."

"Frank gave to so many people over the years," said Mazzuca. "He has played benefits for the Swedish Glee Club, the Shriners, the Musicians Performance Trust Fund, Senior Citizens & retirement homes throughout the Chicagoland area and almost every year, the Lake County Senior Citizens Annual picnic.

Merle's music touched many throughout Lake County and the surrounding area and several groups have volunteered their time to perform at the April 20th benefit.

"I just had to do this for Frank," Mazzuca said. "He has always been so full of life and fun, this will help him get out again."

Among the performers are: The New Peptones, Brass Ball Bangers, Just Friends, Phase II, Peter Guerin as well as Larry Leafblad and the Scotch Lads.

Bernie Guntry is the leader of the New Peptones and has been working with Frankie for more than 30 years.

"We are doing what we can to help him," said Guntry. "He is a great entertainer, whatever he was doing he was always having fun and was successful at it."

Guntry's band today includes members of Merle's former band. "As people grew older and some have passed on, we incorporated the two bands," Guntry said. "We still play in Waukegan, Rockford and Harvard for group gatherings, it's a lot of fun."

Music will begin at noon at the Antioch Moose Lodge, two miles west of Antioch on Rte. 173. A food buffet and prizes will be part of the benefit as well.

Several area businesses have donated prizes for the event including: Upland Bay Hunt Club in Richmond, Armanettis Legion in Antioch and Bernie's Maverick in Antioch.

Tickets are on sale now for $10 and will be available at the door. For more information call, 395-0780; 395-1392 or 746-8443.

Frankie Merle performs at an area club in the late 1980s. Today, the well-known Antioch musician is confined to a wheelchair due to crippling arthritis. Friends and family members are holding a benefit to raise funds to purchase an electric scooter and chair lift, April 20 at the Antioch Moose Lodge.

Horoscope

Aries – March 21/April 20
Your forceful manner makes waves in the workplace. Keep your opinions to yourself this week, and you will be a lot happier from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Your personal life blossoms when an old friend comes back into your life on Thursday. Leo and Sagittarius play important roles.

Taurus – April 21/May 21
Your strong, steady nature will keep you calm during a tumultuous week at work. You won't fall prey to co-workers' worries. However, it's a different story when it comes to romance. An evening with that special someone will allow you to open up and let your emotions show.

Gemini – May 22/June 21
You'll feel like you're on an emotional roller coaster when it comes to family this week. Relatives will be spending a lot of time with you and sharing their true feelings. Don't hold your emotions in. Venting them will help bring you back to an even keel. Look to friends for relaxation.

Cancer – June 22/July 22
Bask in the glory at work this week as you successfully complete a difficult project. Your superiors will be impressed. Your social life improves, and your phone won't stop ringing. Friends you haven't heard from in quite a long time will be in touch. Taurus and Gemini are involved.

Leo – July 23/August 23
Your outgoing personality is a hit with superiors at work. They need someone to go after the heavy hitters, and it very well could be you. Your loyalty to a good friend could put you in a difficult situation this weekend. Don't lose someone close to you just because you're feeling impetuous. Pisces plays an important role.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
Even though it may be hard for you, you're going to have to sit still when it comes to a family event this week. Let relatives make the plans, and only give your input if asked. It all will work out for the best. A friend will look to you for advice later in the week. Try not to be judgmental.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23
Don't let work get you down this week. Remember, it's only a job; so many more important things go on after 5 p.m. Romance blossoms later in the week. You'll be swept off your feet when you least expect it by someone whom you never thought could interest you. Gemini and Aries are involved.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22
You know who you are and what you can do, so don't be a showoff at work early in the week. It can make you look foolish in front of your boss. Family matters are of prime importance this week. Show loved ones how much you care — even if they do drive you crazy at times.

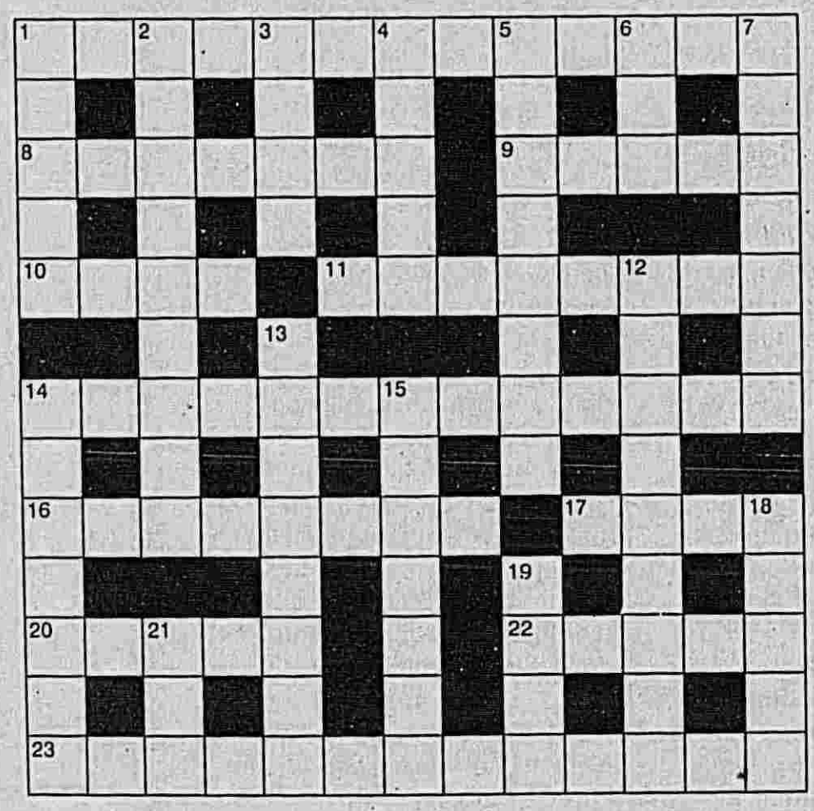

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21
Don't let a mistake at work get you down late in the week. Just explain yourself, and correct the error. You don't lie well, so don't try it. Your family ties grow stronger this week. As for romance, you're riding a wave of excitement. Enjoy it, and start thinking about the future.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20
Keep your shoulder to the wheel at work this week. Don't let petty arguments among coworkers distract you. A close friend will need your help. Give him or her support. However, stand your ground when he or she makes a ludicrous request. You'll be thanked for it later.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18
Don't be a follower at work this week. Now's your chance to take the lead and show everyone what you're capable of. A loved one will seem aloof this week, but don't overreact. He or she just needs to be alone for a little while. Respect his or her wishes. You'll be close again soon.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20
Life is your stage this week — make your mark wherever you go. However, don't let your satiric nature go overboard. Remember to respect other people's feelings. Show compassion to a friend in need later in the week. He or she is counting on you for advice.

Program is great

I would just like to say I think the Round Lake Area Teen Court program is great. Going through the experience of courtroom procedures taught my daughter a lot. And Sandie Lackny, the coordinator, is great. She's always available to answer questions, work with the parents and the kids. Keep up the great job!

Don't criticize

I'm calling as a rebuttal to "Reevaluate." An individual made a comment to my comments that ran a week ago. One thing I learned from the incident I'm going through now is never to criticize a person unless you know all the circumstances of their particular case. That individual said you should be held liable for your actions. The incident that ruined my life and took away my driving privileges, I had very little control over. It had nothing to do with the law. It had everything to do with hospitals and doctors. The person who made those comments should think before they criticize.

You won! Or did you?

Congratulations, Davis voters of Round Lake Beach. You have won higher water bills, higher taxes, higher permit fees, and higher crime rates, along with lower property values.

Education voted down

Congratulations to all the winners in the election. When the children of the Fox Lake Grade School get into Grant High School because Gavin and Big Hollow are way ahead of them because we didn't have enough decent books (the last president in their history books is President Carter), you people who voted down the referendum better not say, "what happened to these kids dropping out of school?" Apparently, the parents of these children in school didn't go and vote for a better education for their children. I'm very sorry for them.

Thanks for nothing

It's too bad that the majority of citizens are too lazy to take pride in our local government elections and cast their vote for their choices. If it were up to me, it would be mandatory to participate in the election process. Maybe only then will the elections really result in a true representation of the community. Thanks to those that did vote.

Tough call

Perhaps the leader of the Heaven's Gate cult should have considered going to a higher level himself and then sending back a message to his followers as to what he found. Intergalactic messages can take a long time and in the intervening 50 years or so, his followers would have had time to decide if following him to a higher level was a good thing to do. On the other hand, they would have had to spend 50 years enduring life in this questionable society. It is a tough call.

Outlaw leaf burning

It never fails. You get a real nice spring day and there's someone down the street burning leaves when you're trying to air your house out or hang some clothes on the line. Leaf burning ought to be outlawed altogether.

What happened?

I'm calling to gripe about the letter I received in Fox Lake with all the teachers' salaries, saying they didn't want the tax rate to go through. I don't care how much these teachers make. If they are helping our children become better, I see nothing wrong with paying them lots of money. While we're at it, what happened to all the money the lottery was supposed to pay toward education?

Too afraid

I called two times one day and I've seen one call in print, but not the other. I guess even Lipservice is too afraid to touch complaints about the perversion of the adult entertainment shops that are littering Route 41. Maybe you haven't gotten around to printing it yet.

Waste of money

On April 2, the day after election in Wauconda, a crew of men started digging for sidewalks on the west side of Brown Street, with no warning from the village that they were going to start this project or even do it. With the majority of the residents on the street not wanting sidewalks, we feel this is a waste of taxpayer dollars. These dollars should be spent on a new sewer system, so we don't waste more dollars repairing and refurbishing wrecked basements. The lack of communication is not surprising, as we experience this with the flooding situation and the dumping of raw sewage into Bangs and Slocum Lake.

Call and ask

If you are physically handicapped, you'll find that the Round Lake area doesn't have handicapped curbs, etc. Are they telling us not to use any of these things? Call your village, ask why you can't use them. We have new and old boards newly elected. If you want my vote next time, help our handicapped groups to use our village facilities.

Went the other way

I'm calling about the article in the Round Lake News titled "Davis slate defeats Schrimpf and Myers." I was a Schrimpf supporter up until he pulled the paperclip thing on Davis. I thought it was childish. It made me question where our village would be going with childish leadership. Reading the article on page A10, Schrimpf was noted as saying he thought they had the best strategy. If he thought this was the paperclip deal, it was very immature. He said as far as the issues went, he thought they had well defined issues such as gangs, drugs, and violence because that's what the people were concerned about. He then said, "obviously, we were wrong." There he is again, trying to make the people look like idiots, making it seem like we're not interested in those things.

Blessing right

The caller who complained about the blessing of Easter baskets at St. Peter's Church was uninformed. According to Father William Costello, the baskets could not be blessed with Holy Water because Holy Water cannot be used between Holy Thursday and Easter Sunday according to church rules. Most parishioners at the church were very pleased with the service and appreciated the efforts of Father Costello to continue this special Easter tradition.

Christian leadership

I attended the election celebration for Mayor Davis on April 1st, and when the tallies were in saying he had won, his party and several other friends and people there joined hands in a circle and had a time of prayer. It reminded me of our country's birth and how our forefathers formed this country on Christian beliefs. I thought it was important for the public to know, whether they voted for Davis or not, that they have a man with Christian leadership working for them.

Right on

I was just reading Lipservice and I'm one of the neighbors who complain about the dog constantly barking in the Loch Lomond area. It's true the dog barks at everything. I congratulate the person for calling and talking about it. Maybe if enough of us call, this family will do something.

Not fair

Is it fair that some people on West State Road in Island Lake get tickets for not having a vehicle sticker, but other people don't. They live in the same place, but know someone important.

Mandatory reading

All these looney tunes in California committed suicide. This is the exact kind of thing that's going on left and right. You've got all this garbage going through the Internet and people getting sucked into scams. Then there's people who would have been busted a few years ago for being con men, advertising on TV as psychics. They ought to make Carl Sagan's last book, "The Demon Haunted World: Scientists for a Candle in the Dark," mandatory reading in every high school so these kids won't get sucked into this crap, either.

Credit where it's due

This is for the story in the Fox Lake Press dated April 4, titled "teachers setting sights on regional art center." Rhonda Heaney is definitely doing a program with pre-kindergartners through eighth graders. What was not said in the article, is that it's sponsored and funded by the Gavin PTA. I think she needs to give some credit to the PTA because it's the PTA that gave over $5,000 for her to do this program. I wanted to clear the air.

No questions asked

I was watching the Lake Zurich Board meeting this week. The Street Deparment was on saying they had 22 storms this winter. We had a milder winter this year compared to last year. How come there was more overtime this year than last year? There wasn't really that much snow. The trucks are running when they don't need to. It seems the board accepts everything in the budget that all departments want. They're running amuck and everyone lets them do it.

Loud and clear

Hillary Clinton once said, "It takes a village to raise a child." Since 70 percent of the people voted against more money for education, the message is loud and clear. In Fox Lake, children can remain ignorant, because the village of Fox Lake couldn't care less about the education the children in this village get. Shame on each and every one of you.

Write about girls

My comment is to Lakeland Newspapers. Why aren't you publishing anything about the Round Lake girls who are playing basketball. Our sixth and fifth graders are traveling every Saturday to play basketball at Stevenson High School against other schools. Or that our girls are leaving today to play in tournaments in Dubuque, Iowa, against other girls in other states. Just ask Coach Debeck. No pictures, no articles, nothing. If these girls were in gangs or were caught with drugs, it would be publicized. It seems this newspaper only wants to report the bad things about our kids, not the good.

Editor's Note: We'd love to publish information. Please call our new sports editor, Brendan O'Neill, at (847) 223-8161, x132.

Slow buses down

Buses from School District 95 speed up and down our street all day long with no children on them. Who pays these taxes and why isn't the village enforcing the 20 mph speed limit? Children are playing in yards and these buses could hit a child. Nice thing, huh?

Dirty pool

This is to Dr. William C. Dam: You played dirty pool by sending out that last minute letter with misleading information. It did its job. It defeated the school referendum. Who suffers? The children. Your children attend private school. But many of us aren't that fortunate. For 30-some cents a day, you defeated this referendum. That's a helluva lot less than a cup of coffee.

Jammin'

I live just west of Cedar Lake Road on Washington Street. I wonder when the police are going to stop these cars from running down Washington Street at high speed with boom boxes going full volume. It jars the floor in the living room.

Chinese medical delegation visits Good Shepherd Hospital

For Carl Rauchenberger, it was a "journey through the past" as the former chief architect for Good Shepherd Hospital in Barrington, joined a group of Chinese visitors on a tour of the hospital that Rauchenberger designed in the mid-1970s.

The Chinese visitors, Huang Xiao Ling, Xu Chuang Nong, and Dr. Tan Zi Qing, from the Taishan Public Health Bureau in Guong Dong, were here to study the hospital's design and function in order to help them design a new hospital to serve their community, which is located in a rural area near Canton.

Good Shepherd Director of Facilities Frank Christina, led the group throughout the hospital from the boiler room to the new Intensive Care Unit (ICU) expansion area and pointed out the many uses that various parts of the hospital have undergone over the years. Rauchenberger, who lives in Barrington, is now retired from the architectural firm of Burnham and Hammond. He said that he was very impressed with the many architectural changes that have occurred at Good Shepherd since the hospital was completed in 1979.

"We originally designed the hospital space to be functional and adaptable to change and I was glad to see how helpful that has been," he said.

Rauchenberger has visited Taishen several times and noted that the Chinese have come a long way in the past few years in picking up modern technology and medical science.

The Chinese visitors were especially interested in oncology and surgery and were very impressed with the new expansion and state-of-the-art technology of the ICU, which is scheduled for completion later in April. The Birth Center was also of interest since most births in China do not occur in a hospital.

Kathy Brown, RN (center) a nurse in the Good Shepherd Hospital Birth Center demonstrates an infant warming table to delegates from the Taishan Public Health Bureau in Guong Dong, China, who were touring the hospital, located in Barrington. The Chinese visitors were very impressed with the newly renovated and expanded Birth Center, since most Chinese births do not occur in hospitals.

Phone solicitation may confuse donors

The Make-A-Wish Foundation® is informing area residents that the organization never solicits donations over the phone. The Foundation has received several calls from consumers who are being solicited by phone, and are asking for clarification as to whether the campaign is being conducted by Make-A-Wish.

"Make-A-Wish does not conduct telephone or door-to-door solicitation. However, we are often confused with organizations that do," said Pam Devereux, executive director of the local chapter.

The Foundation recognized that telemarketing is a legitimate way of marketing and selling products and services. However, said Devereux, consumers can be confused, and Make-A-Wish wants to ensure the consumer's donations are going to the charity of their choice.

"It is important for the public to ask questions of anyone who calls on the telephone soliciting for a cause," Devereux said.

Knowing what the organization is all about, getting clear and direct answers and understanding some of the techniques of telephone marketing are ways to avoid confusion.

The Washington, DC-based National Consumers League has formed a special department known as the Alliance Against Fraud in Telemarketing that has outlined several ways for consumers to handle telemarketing calls, Devereux said. They are:

• Don't allow yourself to be pushed into a hurried decision.

• Always request written information, by mail, about a product, service, investment or charity, and details about the organization that is offering it.

• Don't make a donation, investment or purchase that you don't understand.

• Ask what state and federal agencies the firm is regulated by and/or with whom they are required to be registered.

• If an investment or major purchase is involved, request that information also be sent to your accountant, financial advisor, banker, or attorney for evaluation and an opinion.

• Ask what recourse you would have if you make a purchase and aren't satisfied.

• Don't provide personal financial information over the phone unless you are absolutely certain the caller has a bona fide need to know.

• If necessary, hang-up.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Northern Illinois was founded in 1985 and has granted more than 1,900 wishes. The Foundation grants wishes to children between the ages of 2 1/2 and 18 who have been determined to have a life-threatening illness.

For more information on criteria for qualifying children or how you can become involved with Make-A-Wish, call (312)943-8956.

North Shore site for annual MS Walk

More than 400 walkers will set out on their nine-mile hike on Sunday, April 13 in the ninth annual MS Walk in Highland Park. They will be part of a major event presented by Mercedes-Benz at 12 northern Illinois sites for the benefit of vital research programs and client services of the Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society. Walkers also will join thousands of participants enrolled in walks sponsored by 140 MS chapters and branches nationwide who will be striving to put an end to the devastating effects of multiple sclerosis.

Walkers will begin and end the tour of Highland Park at Wolters field, half a mile east of Rte. 41, on Park Avenue West. Registration begins at 8 a.m. with the official walk start ceremonies led by officers of the MS chapter at 9 a.m.

A goal of more than $1 million in proceeds for the event and 10,000 walkers—one for each person with MS in 7 Illinois counties—has been set for the 12 routes. As participants sign in at the walk site, they will be invited to post a note on a "Wall of Hope" addressed to a person with MS for whom they are making this special effort.

For further information, the MS chapter at (312)922-8000 or 1(800)922-0484.

Women have a special need for relationships. Aglow is an unique ministry by women, for women. In Aglow women experience supportive friendships, caring hearts, and listening ears that help them learn about God's purpose in their lives. Their vision is to see restored women, restored families working together to express the hope of God's love to our world.

Today, Aglow is touching the lives of women in 132 countries on six continents. Women are ministered to in local fellowships, prayer groups, Bible studies, support groups, prisons and jails, nursing homes, teen groups, campus outreaches and ethnic ministries. All over the world women are having the same needs of love, forgiveness, acceptance, understanding and purpose for living met through a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

Women who have overcome difficult situations (abuse, drugs, alcohol, divorce, loneliness, fear, diseases, family problems), are willing to share their life story with other women who are struggling and hurting. Women have experienced dramatic spiritual and physical healings through the teaching of the Word of God and presence of Jesus Christ. YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Any irregularity on the front surface of the eye or on either surface of the lens distorts our picture...much like looking through a warped window.

If the distance from the lens to retina isn't precisely right or the lens doesn't focus as accurately and easily as it should, our eye muscles are forced to overwork. If the eyes are unevenly matched or don't work in harmony, our brain and nervous system suffer needless strain and tension. Beyond a certain point, the brain cannot tolerate two incompatible images; ultimately it will suppress one and although the eye may be organically perfect, it may eventually lose some or all of its ability to see.

Good vision depends upon early detection of any problem. How long has it been since your last examination?

Paisan's, old world charm, elegance

Everything is brand new about Paisan's Ristorante Italiano except for the atmosphere filled with old world charm and elegance, and the time-worn popularity of the traditional Italian cuisine with accents of northern Italy, that makes up the mouth-watering menu.

Owners Kevin and Dorothy Calcaterra believe that upscale European dining means offering the best Italian country dishes, served by an award winning staff, on white linen and crystal.

The coziness of the hunter green, burgundy and ivory decor, warmed with mahogany wood and adorned with classic prints, completes the inviting picture.

The homemade soups and desserts, as well as the fresh seafood and pasta dishes offered by the executive chef, Mark Stanczak, are several of the reason's Paisan's has become so popular in less than two years. The diversified menu also includes a long list of scrumptious pasta dishes, as well as the chef's favorite veal specialties, roasted lamb and breaded pork chops.

The Calcaterra's hope that diners can find just a tiny bit of room for an award-winning dessert like the richest tiramasu in town, the unusual bread pudding with Jack Daniel's sauce, yummy blueberry cobbler, or their special orange blood mousse served with rosemary peppered chocolate.

Paisan's also offers a full wine list filled with choice Italian and California wines.

Customers receive friendly, fast and knowledgeable service from either the waitress named the number one wait person in Lake County, or any of the rest of the well-trained staff, all of the same high caliber.

Paisan's will cater any affair either in-restaurant or at outside locations. Carryouts are also available, and a special delivery service, Elite, will bring all of Paisan's favorites right to the customer with a simple phone call to (847)263-3300.

Paisan's is open seven days a week, for lunch from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily, for dinner, from 4 to 9 p.m., Sunday through Thursday, and from 4 to 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. Phone (847)625-1500 for reservations or more information. "Paisan's, where friends will be friends ... forever!"

Decision making—A requisite for personal growth

Minding Your Own Business

Don Taylor

"It does not take much strength to do things, but it requires great strength to decide on what to do."

If you desire to grow your career or build your business, improving your decision-making abilities will help. As you rise in any organization, you will find yourself spending less time doing and more time deciding. This is also true for small-business owners as their businesses grow.

There are several steps you can take to improve your skills in this area. However, before we begin that journey we should try to understand the common causes of poor decision making.

Obstacles to good decisions

The most common obstacle is the lack of experience. We often face decisions we've never made before. The real difficulty with the school of experience is that you get the test first, and the lesson later.

Another barrier to good decision making is a lack of knowledge. If you don't know what to do and you've never done it before, you must expect errors.

Another obstacle is making decisions based on feelings instead of facts. We are emotional beings, but we must be careful not to make our decisions on the basis of personal preferences or prejudices.

Still another barrier to overcome is that of poor priorities. We often postpone important decisions because they are difficult. We then find ourselves immersed in urgent, but unimportant matters. Poor organization can compound decision-making problems because it denies us the time required to gather information and weigh the results. By prioritizing our activities we put the most important tasks first and have more time to analyze potential outcomes.

How to make better decisions

•Define the problem or situation clearly. You'll need facts and details to make accurate, responsible decisions. Take time to probe for details. When you fully understand the facts surrounding each aspect of the decision you must make, you'll be prepared to assess the options.

•Evaluate your options. Every problem has more than one solution. After you've listed the options, make a sheet for each. Then begin to list the advantages and disadvantages of each option. It is likely that one option will become the obvious best choice.

•Get help when you need it. Sometimes we find ourselves too close to a problem to make sound decisions. This is the time to consult an expert. I have several folks from whom I seek advice. In my business, I talk to my accountant, my attorney and a number of mentors whose opinions I respect. In my personal life, I consult with doctors, clergy, spouse and friends. Who you select will depend on the nature of your situation.

•Don't postpone tackling the prob

Abbott plans expansion of North Chicago facility

Abbott Laboratories announced the expansion of the company's facilities in North Chicago. Abbott began construction of a new 112,000 square foot laboratory building along with parking for 300 cars at the north end of the company's existing facilities on Sheridan Road. Abbott plans to invest approximately $30 million in the new building and equipment. The building will be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1998.

The new building will initially provide organic chemistry and analytical labs for employees working in research and development for the company's pharmaceutical, chemical and agricultural operations.

"This project is a direct result of Abbott's commitment to research and development," says Lance Wyatt, vice president corporate engineering. "Every year, we find we need more lab space to accommodate our research efforts. Having available space adjacent to our existing site allows us to maximize the efficiency of our research and development operations, which, in the long run, helps us remain successful."

"As the continued expansion of Abbott's facilities here shows, we've maintained an excellent working relationship with Abbott over the years," says North Chicago Mayor Bobby Thompson. "This new expansion will benefit everyone involved. North Chicago gains 140 jobs and additional tax revenues, and Abbott gains the lab space it needs to stay competitive."

Abbott Laboratories is a global, diversified health care company devoted to the discovery, development, manufacture and marketing of pharmaceutical, diagnostic, nutritional and hospital products. Nearly 15,000 Abbott employees and retirees reside in the area surrounding Abbott's operations in Lake County.

Executive breakfast to address economic outlook

Economic outlooks and strategies to improve the bottom line will be highlighted at Lake County's Economic Development Commission's Executive Breakfast.

The breakfast is an annual opportunity for business people to network and pick up tips from experts. It will feature practical manufacturing strategies and offer a view of the global, U.S. and Midwest economies from 7:30 to 10 a.m. Tuesday, May 1, at Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort located at Milwaukee Ave. and Route 22in Lincolnshire.

Management consultants Michael F. Doyle, president of the Phoenix, Ariz., based Doyle Consulting Group, LLP, and Robert C. Parker, president of the Glen Ellyn, based Parker Management Associates, Ltd., will address "supply chain optimization," otherwise known as how-to-get-a-better-bang-for-the-buck at each step up the line from raw materials to product distribution.

In addition, Harris Investment Management Chairman and Chief Strategist Donald G.M. Coxe will talk about the Midwest's economy—how it is tied to Japan and the outlook for heavy industry. Coxe, who has extensive experience in investment strategies, also will give his take on inflation and the state of the U.S. economy.

Doyle has worked with Motorola, Rockwell International, the Ford Motor Co. and is associated with a number of universities. Parker also has worked with Ford and with International Harvester. Both have written or co-authored important books and articles in their field.

Jerry Todd, who chairs the economic Development Commission's Marketing and Communications Committee, noted that the speakers will be calling attention to areas that companies should be addressing. And that help in addressing these and other areas is available through the Lake County Manufacturing Extension Center, an established federal, state and county-backed consulting service.

"The theme of the breakfast is the kind of help that the Manufacturing Extension Center can provide to companies in Lake County, " Todd said.

"But the breakfast does a number of things. It brings together allies and future contacts in business and education, as well as government. Key players who have a vital interest in the continued vitality of Lake County attend the breakfast," he said.

Two awards that recognize contributions to that vitality will be given at the Executive Breakfast. The Charles E. deRivera Memorial Award will be given to a business person for outstanding commitment of time and leadership to the county's economic environment. The second, the Business/Education Linkage Award, recognizes companies and educational institutions that have formed innovative partnerships to expand students' skills and career choices.

The Executive Breakfast is co-sponsored by First Midwest Bank and News 1220 WKRS. Cost is $40 a person, or $300 per table of eight. Call Russell Medley in the Lake County Planning Dept. at 360-5963 for reservations. or

First Chicago opens express banking center in Vernon Hill Dominick's

The First National Bank of Chicago has opened its newest supermarket branch in the Dominick's Finer Food store at 290 Hawthorn Village Commons, Vernon Hills.

"The Vernon Hills branch will offer our customers the convenience of express banking. We expect it to become very important to this community," said Martha Stawiarski, who has been tapped to head the new branch.

In celebration of the opening, First Chicago will make several special offers to area customers through May 16.

Those investing in either 6- or 12-month certificates of deposit will receive a one percent bonus on the rate being paid with and additional account being opened. The annual fee will be waived for the first year for those who open a new line of credit. Additionally, qualified applicants for installment loans will receive up to point five percent off the rate charged on the loan. For opening any checking account, customers will receive 50 free Skyline checks.

The First Chicago Dominick's branch is an express banking center, allowing customers to apply for loans, open checking and saving accounts, and make deposits and withdrawals by ATM.

Customers at the supermarket branch also have the opportunity to make appointments with mortgage bankers and investment representatives with First Chicago NBD Investment Service, Inc.

"We are constantly looking for ways to enhance our customer relationships by improving the level of service that we offer. One of these ways is by offering customers the ability to bank where they shop," Stawiarski said.

The branch is approximately 100 square feet, and has a staff of three. Its hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

"Supermarket banking is clearly an idea whose time has come," said Stawiarski. "As the largest retail bank in Chicago's six-county region, we know that many area residents are already First Chicago customers. We hope other neighbors and friends who live and work near the Dominick's branch will enjoy the convenience we're offering."

First Chicago is a subsidiary of First Chicago NBD Corporation, the nation's nineth largest bank holding company with assets of $104.6 billion. It is the Midwest's number one provider of financial services to consumers, middle market companies and large corporate customers.

Dominick's Supermarkets, Inc. is a publicly traded company operating 85 Dominick's stores and 17 Omni Superstores throughout the greater Chicagoland area.

lem or implementing the solution. Once you know that you are responsible for a decision and you've gathered the facts and analyzed the options, take action. Set a deadline if you need to, but make something happen. Procrastination is a deadly paralysis which often causes you to deal with a much bigger problem later on.

•Go with your instinct. Unfortunately, you will encounter situations where the answer may not be clear. Even when you've gathered the facts, probed for information and analyzed the options, you may find no single best solution. Then you have to rely on your instinct. Go with your gut feelings when all else fails.

•Don't second guess your decisions. Don't spend time looking back trying to analyze your errors. You must learn from your failures, but don't second guess yourself. The best decision makers combine information, facts and instinct to get the job done. They don't let previous mistakes drag them down and neither should you.

Take life easy with townhome lifestyle at Country Place

Privacy, spaciousness and convenience of a maintenance-free community is what townhome buyers will find at Westfield Homes Country Place in Lindenhurst.

ROSELLE LOVE
Special sections editor

During a lifetime many major decisions have to be made. What school to attend, what career to choose, or where to live. Westfield Homes at Country Place in Lindenhurst has developed a series of townhomes to make the decision of where to live a lot easier. Country Place is a 200-acre master planned community that will include 525 homes, and 153 townhomes.

The increasing popularity of the townhome lifestyle has Country Place offering two different townhome communities with five models to choose from; the Midlands and Lakeside. "People can invest in ownership here at Country Place and enjoy the maintenance free lifestyle in a country setting," states Mary Fran Lowry, vice president of sales and marketing.

"The Midlands and Lakeside communities offer up to 1,900 square feet of living space, which allows plenty of opportunity to create a new home for first time buyers, single parents, single professionals and empty nesters."

The one-of-a-kind townhomes available at Country Place give the townhome owner plenty of privacy with its spacious surroundings that include award-winning landscape design, and a beautiful view of the lake adding to the quiet, country atmosphere. Country Place has tennis courts, and a jogging trail that encompasses the entire subdivision, which includes plans to extend directly into nearby McDonald Woods Forest Preserve. Westfield Homes has also donated 13-acres to the Lindenhurst Park District to create a place to play, take a leisurely walk and just relax.

The Lakeside community offers three two-story townhomes; the Edgewood, Camden and Devonshire. All are spacious, bright and private and include a two-car garage with the option of adding a basement. "We listen to the people and are offering basements, something rarely offered in townhomes. This, we found, appeals to a cross-section of people, we offer something for everyone," said Lowry. "Country Place offers a neighborhood of flavor, and each townhome continues to add a steady value to the

The Camden is the most popular townhome. It offers a great room perfect for entertaining and family gatherings. The huge kitchen includes sliding glass doors that open onto a deck. The large master suite accommodates a king-size bed with room to spare. Each room of the Camden has plenty of windows to allow for a bright, cheery atmosphere and great views of the country setting. Homeowners who do not want volume, can add a loft to create a third bedroom. The 1,585 square foot Camden can be built to 1,900 square feet and starts at $137,400.

The Devonshire has only been available for two months and is rapidly becoming a favorite. The Devonshire is the most formal of all townhomes offered. The impressive entry way leads the homeowner into a spacious great room, with cozy bay and large windows. A pier fireplace (three sided) is the focal point of the main level and adds beauty and warmth to the kitchen, dining and family room. The Devonshire is large but offers plenty of nesting areas for family privacy. The upstairs loft has a sweeping view of the great room below and offers the possibilities of becoming an office, den, or third bedroom. The master suite on the second level features a large bedroom, walk-in closet, and private bath. The placement of the windows on the second level allows light and volume to the homeowner. Hostas provide form, color to brighten shade gardens at home '97

Beautiful large round puckered leaves with wide, irregular margins of blue and light green; leaf centers are yellow-cream and a dense mass of white flowers in midsummer. I'm the Hosta "Great Expectation." I can stand alone as a specimen in your shade garden or in a mass planting to brighten up any dull, dark corner.

Some of my friends are: the Hosta "Bright Lights." Cupped-shaped leaves; center streaked and mottled with yellow; wide green margins. I look great next to the Hosta "Blue Angel" which has huge blue leaves with a heavy texture; many white hyacinth-like flowers. This plant is a beautiful specimen and looks great planted with low growing evergreen groundcover around it to show off it's bold blue textured leaves.

The Hosta "Sun Power" is one of the very best gold Hostas; has unique twisted and pointed golden leaves and grows rapidly into a beautiful clump; the color holds up well with exposure to a considerable amount of sun; orchid flowers in early summer.

The 1997 American Hosta Growers Hosta of the Year is the Hosta "Patriot." It has the same dark green center and form as the Hosta "Francee," but has a much wider striking crisp white margin. The Hosta "Pizzaz" has heart-shaped leaves with wavy cream-white margins on a frosted blue base; dense masses of white flowers.

These particular Hostas mentioned are a selection of popular and new cultivars providing forms and colors to brighten up one's shade garden.

Some nice companion plants for the Hostas are the Coral Bells. They have large leaves, grow well in the shade and offer more interest for the dull, dark corners of certain shade gardens. The Heuchera m. (Coral Bell) "Palace Purple" has a mahogany-red foliage which makes a stunning impact all season long. It's small white flowers emerge 10-inches above the foliage of this plant. The Heuchera s. "Firefly" is another nice companion plant for the Hosta. It's delicate red flowers on branch spikes above the green foliage identify this plant in the shade garden. We like to design this plant as a groundcover around the larger leaved Hostas.

It's a pleasure to see the once rather dull shade garden that only had pachysandra and a few green leaved hostas in it to come alive with shapes and colors of the newer varieties of Hostas, Coral Bells, Tearellas, and a variegated Solomon's Seal for good measure.—*by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect, owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Inc. Household tips

Cobweb buster

To dust away those pesky cobwebs, cover a broom with a piece of cloth. Then simply brush them down. This works great on textured ceilings and keeps it from shedding.

Handy mop

When cleaning out the bottom of kitchen cabinets take everything out and instead of bending down to wash them use a sponge mop! Works great. For paneling that needs cleaning use the mop again, no bending or stretching. If you have carpet, be sure to cover edges with plastic to catch any excess water drips. Try using a sponge mop, with no sharp edges, to clean out the bathtub!

Toothbrush holder

Keep loose pens and pencils for your purse in a plastic toothbrush travel holder. It will keep the lining of your purse from getting stained with ink marks and it's easy to get to when needed.

CLC Spectrum club sponsors Gay Pride Week

Events designed to bring awareness to community

The Spectrum Club, a student organization of gays, lesbians, bisexuals and their friends, is sponsoring a pride week to promote education about and awareness of Lake County's gay, lesbian and bisexual population.

"This is the first time events like this have been held in Lake County," said Lyla MacLean. "The club feels these are important issues to bring to the public's attention."

This is the first year the Spectrum Club has existed at the College of Lake County.

The group has scheduled a number of events that are open to the public.

• April 14, a program entitled "Coming Out Stories" will be presented from 7 to 8 p.m. in room C003 on the College of Lake County's Grayslake Campus.

The evening will feature emotional and sometimes humorous stories about people telling family and friends their "deep, dark secret." The program is free and refreshments will be served.

• April 15, the AIDS Awareness Club and the Activities Program Board sponsors "Workout for Hope," a low impact aerobic workout to raise funds and awareness for AIDS and related cancer research. The event will be held form 6 to 8 p.m. in building 7 on the Grayslake Campus. There will be raffles and door prizes for the top fundraisers. Each person is expected to bring in $25 in donations to participate.

• An open forum on homosexuality and bisexuality has been scheduled from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on April 16 in room A162 on the Grayslake Campus. A panel of eight lesbians, gays, bisexuals and straight supporters will be on hand to answer questions about homosexuality and bisexuality in 1997. A staff member from the Lake County Health Dept. will also be available to answer statistical and health-related question. The program is free.

Attendees at culture night, scheduled from 7 to 9:30 p.m. April 18 can learn more about homosexual and bisexual culture during a brief presentation on gays, lesbians and bisexuals in the arts. It will be followed by a movie entitled "The Incredible True Adventures of Two Girls in Love," about two women who fall in love. It is rated PG 13 for language and the subject matter. The program is free and refreshments will be available for purchase.

For more information on these events, contact the CLC Spectrum Information Line at 223-6601, ext 5715.

Rear Admiral Green: Volunteerism exemplifies character of today's Sailor

United Way of Lake County honors Great Lakes Sailors for contributions

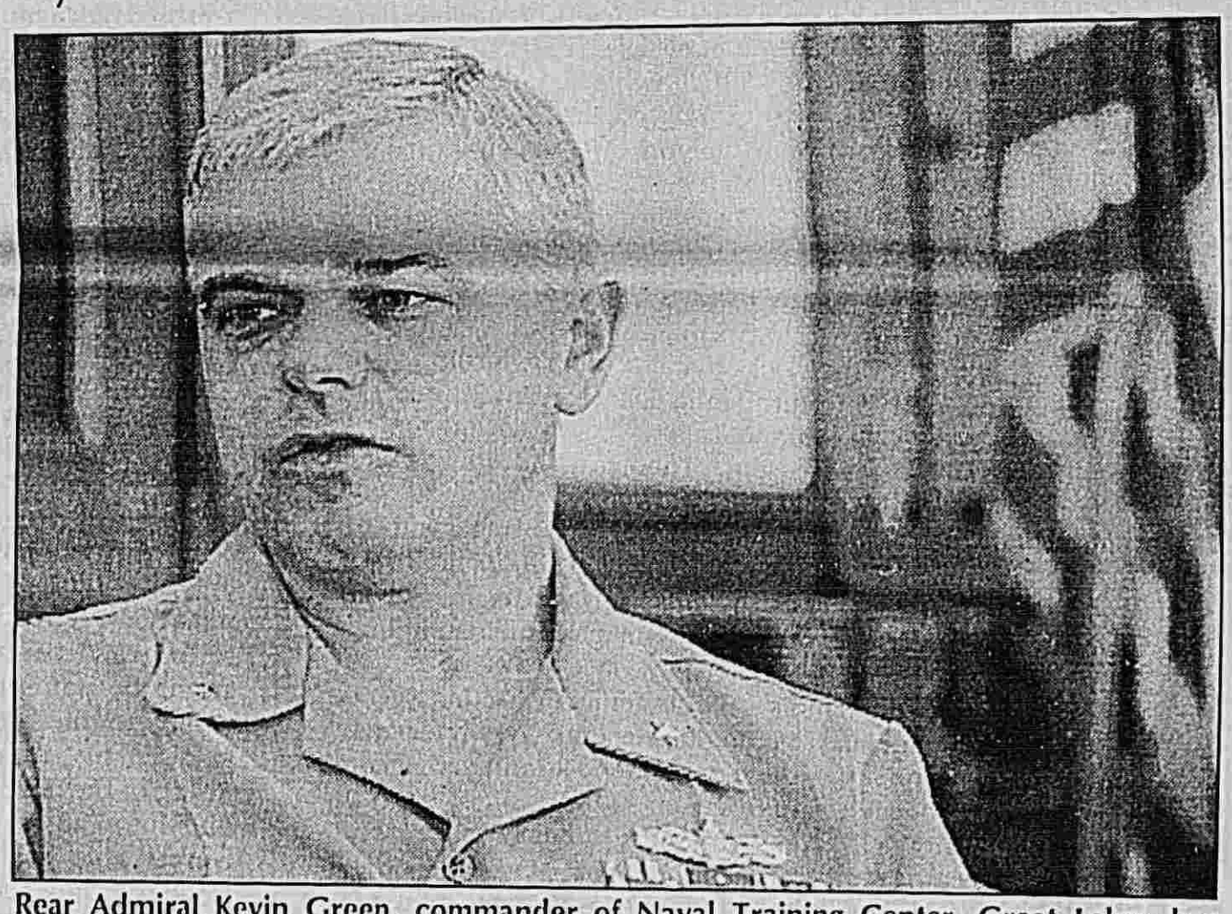

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

When Navy Rear Admiral Kevin P. Green accepted the United Way of Lake County's Community Partnership Award this week, he did so on behalf of the 50,000 young people who enter the Navy each year and who receive their introduction to Navy life at Naval Training Center Great Lakes.

"We are in the business of building citizens at Great Lakes," Green said. "Our contributions to the surrounding community are signified through the volunteer work and involvement our Sailors have in the local communities."

Lake County election results have world wide interest

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander said viewers from literally "the other side of the world" accessed the County Clerk Internet page to see the outcome of the April 1 election. " N o foolin. More than 25,500 hits were made to access our up-to-the-minute election results, some from as far away as Japan, Australia, Singapore, New Zealand and our neighbors in Canada," said Helander. April 1 proved the most active day ever for www.co.lake.il.us/cntyclk.

Helander piloted the county's first move onto the World Wide Web in March 1996 and was one of the first two counties in Illinois, along with Kane County Clerk Lorraine Sava, to offer virtually on-line election results. "In late 1995, I asked the County Administrator why a county of our size and of our professional competence had not utilized this very effective communication tool," she added. After Lake County's computer department investigated the growing number of new on-line customers connecting each week, the county began developing the Virtual Government Center.

Helander noted she was particularly pleased with the speed with which the computer department staff worked to provide the County Clerk's office access to the World Wide Web for the election results in the 1996 presidential primaries. "The county staff worked so quickly that we had less than a week to publicize our new Internet address, y et we received 2,800 access hits in March 1996," Helander said.

"We have continued to expand our Internet page to include information on where precinct polling places are located, how to become an election judge or poll watcher, and what issues and candidates are on the ballot." The web site will soon contain the petition information for school board candidates who will appear on the ballot for the Nov. 4 Nonpartisan Election, as well as information for those interested in filing during Dec. 1997 for the March 1998 primary elections.

Next, the County Clerk will offer information on the services offered in the Vital Records and Tax Extension departments of the office. Long term plans include posting indexes for genealogical records, once the county institutes digital imaging of local records for storage as computer files.

Helander's e-mail address is cntyclrk@co.lake.il.us to suggest other services via the World Wide Web.

See term limits favor growing

Surprise!

Term limits seems to be working when given a chance. Still only a simmering idea in Illinois and regarded by a phalanx of professional politicians and do-good theorists as a kooky idea, term limits is holding its own in the 20 states that have adopted limits for state legislators since 1990.

In Maine, the first state in the nation to limit lawmakers in both sides of the state legislature, government is running smoother, lawmakers are working harder, lobbyists have less influence and the new breed of representative seems to be more in tune with the electorate.

One of the strongest arguments against term limits—that lobbyists and staffers will take over government—hasn't worked out at all in Maine. Maybe that's because the citizen lawmakers are working harder at their job of governing that working to build bridges to reelection. Maine legislators are limited to eight years.

Even without mandated term limits, in our opinion there has been no lessening in the quality of representation for Lake County in Springfield, despite fairly extensive turnover in the 11 person delegation due to retirement, redistricting and ambition. Only State Sens. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove), and State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) can be regarded as long-timers.

Remember the old saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." Illinois would do well to join the term limits movement.

Election mood: keep it steady

Voters were remarkably kind to incumbents in the consolidated election April 1. With two notable exceptions, incumbency was the best thing going for candidates election day.

Waukegan Mayor Bill Durkin survived near knock-out blows delivered by activist Atty. Newton Finn, but elsewhere incumbent leaders enjoyed smooth sailing. As noted here several weeks ago, some mayors and township supervisors are so firmly entrenched they weren't even challenged. The lack of contests contributed in no small part to the paltry voter turnout.

The two exceptions were of arresting proportions. Mike Graham, author of Lake County's open space movement, regained his seat as supervisor of Libertyville Township. Trustee Jim Krischke overturned the dictatorial and abrasive first term mayor of Lake Zurich, Debbie Vasels, vowing to restore concensus and decorum. There is no question that changes will be made under their watch.

Elsewhere, many village executives will be grappling with hold-over problems despite getting a vote of confidence from their constitutients. Sewer problems likely will be intensified in Wauconda where Mayor Jim Eschenbach denied dumping raw sewage into Bangs Lake even in the face of a cease and desist order from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency delivered in the final days before the election. Newly elected Antioch Township Supervisor Tim Osmond admitted that community sanitation shortcomings detailed by his opponent will be a high priority in the coming months.

Grayslake Mayor Pat Carey and Mundelein Mayor Marilyn Sindles are certain to find their friendly position toward the proposed Rte. 53 tollway will continue to be a source of unrest. The surprising depth of voter concern over gangs and public safety will keep driving political discourse in the Round Lake area.

There once was a time when the biggest problems facing local government were fixing street potholes and keeping the squad car filled with gasoline. Now local officials are beset with a variety of headaches, some of which just won't go away.

Bud Murrie provided pathway for Troopers

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

As a policeman, Bud Murrie was more than a role model. He was a legend.

During his 30 years as an Illinois State Trooper, Murrie came to know more law enforcement officers than any other cop in the state. In retirement, his reputation followed him. The legend grew.

Straight as an arrow in posture and conduct, Bud Murrie built a professional record that will stand a long time. "Do your job like Bud Murrie and you'll do fine," young troopers were advised.

Baptised John Murrie, he was Bud practically from the day he was born. After finishing Warren High School, Bud joined the Navy to serve during World War II. Even close friends didn't know of his love for the sea until that side was revealed at funeral services in Grayslake recently. A selection from Victory at Sea was played for a processional. An honor guard of troopers escorted his casket down the aisle as the organ played the Navy Hymn and "Anchors Away."

Ironically, he was felled by a fatal heart attack while on an ocean cruise with his wife, Jackie.

Bud Murrie, 72, was devoted to duty, his family, and his community. A reading from the scripture described his inner strength, patience and kindness. Another abundant quality was his innate modesty. Rising to the rank of lieutentant, Bud handled just about every conceivable assignment as a trooper. Only his closest fellow officers knew of his professional achievements. Bud wasn't one to brag.

A commendable pathway to follow. "Do the job like Bud Murrie. You'll do fine."

CELEBRATE—Few persons born after World War II are aware that there once was a University of Illinois at Galesburg to handle overflow enrollment at Champaign-Urbana. Some 1,800 students attended U of I classes at a Galesburg site from 1946 to 1949. A group of former students is drumming up interest for a 50th anniversary celebration Sept. 12 and 13. If you know anyone who would be interested, have them call 217-333-1471 or 1-800-355-2586 for details.

RESCUE RELIVED—It was a shame more persons didn't hear Air Force Capt. Scott O'Grady tell his story last Friday night at a public program in Deerfield of being shot down over Bosnia in 1995 and how he was rescued. O'Grady appeared at Trinity International University as part of a series of events celebrating the school's 100th anniversary.

The Lake County Council of the U.S. Navy League in cooperation with the Recruit Training Command is sponsoring "Friends of the Navy Night." Capt. Cory Whitehead, RTC commander, will address visitors and there will be tours. The Navy League, a civilian support organization, is arranging an information packed program that will run less than two hours. Admission is free and can be obtained simply by reporting to the RTC entrance on Rte. 137 at 6:45 p.m.

Candidate bemoans rumors that clouded campaign trail

MARIANNE PORRECA

Win, or lose. I must say this experience has been an interesting one. Rumors, rumors. First, the rumor I was running. Somehow the papers found out as soon as I took out my petition but yet when I turned in my petitions, the current supervisor was surprised to see I was applying for his job. Then rumors started about who I knew and what I was going to do if elected.

Rumors, rumors where do they start? I especially like the one started at the county building that my son, Anthony was not only caught ripping down signs but arrested in Gurnee. Wouldn't you think that if it were true, it would have made the front page. My children being followed by people as they went to and from school and work. Myself and my husband

Party Lines

Santa reigns in Grant

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political opinion is prepared from staff reports.

No Cher—Democrats are sniggering that Congressman Sonny Bono has been booked as the principal speaker for the Lake County Republican Federation's 35th spring dinner Friday, May 16, at Marriott's Lincolnshire. Yes, that Sonny.

Dinner planners hasten to point out that the big fund raiser is no night club preview. Bono is a highly respected second term Congressman from California and a certified conservative. He's expected to draw big.

What's to do?—Now that the village and township elections are history, politicos have only the summer golf outings to look to. Republicans have their annual links shindig set for Wednesday, July 9, at Midlane Country Club. Democrats, when last Party Lines checked, still were searching for a date and a place.

First—As the votes still were being counted, Ald. Larry Ten Pas came out smoke 'n as the first announced mayoral candidate for the 2001 Waukegan election. Ten Pas ended up a badly beaten Republican nominee in a three-way race, but he vowed "next time" to be better organized and better financed. The former teacher and coach remains on the city council, facing re-election in 1999.

Santa reigns—The April 1 election substantiated once again the old political adage, "You can't beat Santa Claus." Grant Township Supervisor Gordon "Gordy" Kiesgen won re-election going away despite charges from opponents that he was a "do nothing" candidate. Kiesgen is the perennial St. Nick at Chamber of Commerce Breakfast with Santa events and other Christmas time gatherings.

Playing prejudices—Members of the Latino community are smarting over discrimanatory references to Hispanics that surfaced in the final days of the Village of Round Lake campaign where incumbent Mayor Jim Lumber put down Patrick Smythe, manager of an auto dealership.

Lumber

Because the challenger's slate contained several candidates with Hispanic surnames, Smythe supporters said his opponents spread rumors that Smythe was out to change the ethnic make-up of Round Lake.

Old vs. new— Grayslake Village Trustee Tim Rafferty took the opportunity at a village board meeting to pay tribute to John "Bud" Murrie, a lifelong resident of the village and retired Illinois State Trooper who passed away March 14. Murrie was a member of the village Economic Development Commission and an original member of the Grayslake Development Organization.

Rafferty didn't miss the opportunity to contrast Murrie's life with the behavior of Grayslake Mayoral Candidate Gunta Hadac, park district candidate Sharon Desjardins and Ava Cohn of the Grayslake Action Alliance.

Hadac

"...he would have shook his head at them in the Grayslake tradition and saluted them and walked away saying 'those are a couple of messed up broads'," Rafferty stated about Murrie's reaction if he would have met the women.

"Which of their neighbors should we tell we don't want to live here," he noted, alluding to Hadac's and Cohn's stances against over development in the village.

He received a standing ovation from the audience when he was finished.

Poor manners— And speaking of candidate Hudac, according to insiders at Grayslake Village Hall, the mayoral candidate has yet to concede victory to Mayor Pat Carey. It's been said around town this is the first time in the village's 102-year history, the losing candidate has not made personal contact to concede victory.

And speaking of poor manners— State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park), has introduced a bill that would make it clear that physically assaulting sports officials will not be tolerated. "Sometimes people get carried away," Gash said. "We need to make it clear that spitting on the umpire or head-butting the referee simply will not be tolerated. We need to make sure our kids learn good sportsmanship." House Bill 1092, passed the judiciary committee and will now go to the full House of Representatives.

Friends of Link— The Friends of State Senator Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) will hold a cocktail reception in honor of him, April 18. The reception will be held from 6-8:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, 200 North Green Bay Road, Waukegan. Tickets are $35. For more information call 566-7701.

Private thoughts on life in general

Pfarr-fetched thoughts on life in the slow lane:

Our little family enjoyed Easter brunch at Midlane Country Club again this year, along with Glen Kozlowski, the former Chicago Bears player who now is a WGN radio personality. Last year, Coach Dave Wannstedt was there with his family. (We don't tell these people we're Green Bay fans.)

A couple hundred folks attended the Easter feast, so "Koz" didn't notice me. There was, however, an interesting juxtaposition of our names. People were munching appetizers in an anteroom room waiting to be summoned to their tables. When the hostess called "Kozlowski," everyone turned to look as the huge football guy and his party got up and walked in. The next name called was "Pfarr" (pronounced "far") and the gapers turned their gazes on us, perhaps wondering if the sensational Green Bay quarterback Brett Favre (pronounced "farv") was there, too.

The Pfarr Corner

Jerry Pfarr

Our son Tony is quarterback-size, so maybe some are still wondering.

When I see Kozlowski at the golf course or hear him on the radio, I think of Mike Ditka, the new coach of the New Orleans Saints. Ditka is famous for his tantrums and hardnose image. He has been called bullheaded and ill-tempered. A book about him is titled, "Ditka: Monster of the Midway."

But there's a softer side of Iron Mike. When Ditka left the Bears a few years ago, Kozlowski told the news media: "Sometimes I would take retarded children to Halas Hall and show them around. And Mike would always invite us into his office, put the children on his lap, hug them and talk to them tenderly. That's the Mike Ditka I'll remember."

Imagine my surprise the other day when I went to a friend's house and was greeted by a doormat that said, "Oh, no! Not you again."

Hey, am I outdated? The mats at both doors to our house say, "Welcome."

To get with the flow, I checked out a couple of novelty shops and found smart-alecky doormats that said:

"Did you bring us a present?"

"Hi. I'm Mat."

"Got beer?"

"When door opens, put your left foot in, put your left foot out, put your left foot in and shake it all about."

In large letters, "ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY," and in small letters, "lives down the street."

And this eyebrow raiser: "Wow! Nice underwear."

Has the old-fashioned welcome mat worn out its welcome?

Some say the best thing about retirement is you can take a nap whenever you wish. I have found that to be the luxurious truth.

Not far behind, however, is the fact you can play golf whenever you wish. Since April came in like a lamb last week, I played on Monday and Tuesday ... and Wednesday and Thursday ... and, oh yes, Friday, too.

Arnold Palmer says he especially enjoys golf for the camaraderie and banter among fellow players. I was subject to that again last week.

Me: "I've been in more bunkers than Eva Braun."

Young friend: "Who's Eva Braun?"

Me: "I couldn't sink a putt in the ocean if I was standing on the pier. I'm pathetic!"

Partner: "You would have to improve to be pathetic."

Me: "Why does my ball keep avoiding the hole?"

Pal: "Maybe it's afraid of the dark."

Me: "How should I play this putt?"

Chum: "Keep it low."

I wonder if Palmer has to golf with wise guys.

My friend Richard has a red face, and it isn't from the sun.

On his way to work each morning he has been dropping off his 6-year-old daughter at her school. As little Kim leaves the car he winks at her and jokes, "Give your pretty teacher a kiss for me."

Recently, at a parent-teacher conference, Richard's wife introduced herself to Kim's lovely young first-grade teacher who, after their chat, quipped with a big smile, "Oh, and please thank your husband for all the kisses he sends me."

being followed, for what reason.

The only one I can think of is because I have nothing to hide. Anyone who knows me, knows that I am a concerned person willing to devote all of my energy to the project ahead of me, thus this election. But I guess the people that are currently involved with the township don't know me.

I have given this campaign all of my energy. My family, friends and people I did not know until I started my petition drive, have given me not only their support but their help in passing out flyers. I have done no mailing of the same literature to the same people, two days in a row. Are my opponents trying to tell us we're illiterate? I have made choices about how I was going to approach this and I have chosen the most economical way.

I have met many people who are as concerned as I am and treasure all of those memories—I will keep them forever. And then those other memories of Mr. Depke's son and how he threatened my children's lives at WKRS. The things he said he'd do to my children and the name he called me are unspeakable. Let me think of the last time I was called that. I was a teenager working at my father's gas station and was called that by an old girlfriend of my new boyfriend. I was warned about their character but I am appalled that the rumor about it was correct. I guess it's just politics.

Editor's note: Marianne Porreca unsuccessfully sought election as supervisor of Warren Township in the April 1 election. She is a resident of Gages Lake.

Letter to the Editor

Sign of the times

Editor,

Ten signs!! I counted 10 subdivision signs, at the corner of Grass Lake and Deep Lake roads.

I thought with the elections over we might be able to see some grass alongside the roads, I was wrong. With spring anxiously knocking on the builders doors, they have begun the task of making sure you eat, breath and sleep their building project's name. Sutton on the Bay!! Deerpath Crossing!! Centex Homes!! not once, but four times in the same eight foot by eight foot area.

If you want to sell something, we have to take out an ad in the newspaper, or pass the word at work. I believe the builders should be forced to adhere to more professional advertising tactics and quit cluttering up our roadways and neighborhoods with these annoying signs. I understand they have a need, and a right to advertise, however, I believe it can be done in a more tasteful manner.

Please let us enjoy what little scenery we have left. Trash the signs!

Nursery denied zoning

NEWPORT TOWNSHIP—The rezoning of 10 acres in Newport Township from rural estate to countryside has been voted down by the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals. The buyers of the 10 acre parcel of land wanted it rezoned and were asking for a conditional use permit to operate a nursery on site.

Bob Mosteller, of the county planning and zoning department said the boards decision now has to be written up and approved before going before the Planning Building and Zoning Sub-Committee of the county board for a vote. The earliest the decision would go before the Lake County Board for a final vote would be May 13, Mosteller explained.

"This simply didn't conform to the zoning standards," he noted.

There were many objections but the bottom line he said, was the rural estate zoning is the most protected under the county zoning ordinances and doesn't even allow churches to be built.

"I think the board members felt it was too much of a change. Furthermore there are tens of thousands of acres out there zoned countryside that they could get a conditional use permit for and of course the neighbors are all opposed to it," Mosteller said. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Plan goes to trustees

GURNEE—Residents who would be neighbors to a proposed used car facility in Gurnee vow to continue to state their case to Gurnee trustees.

"It will be as intense as the first meeting before the plan commission," resident Barb Thoma said.

Plan commission members voted 5 to 2 to pass along a favorable recommendation regarding USA Auto Nation. Voting against were Lyle Foster and Krysti Kovarik.

The site plan's revisions at Dilley's Road and Route 132 apparently were enough to convince a majority of plan commissioners. Auto Nation agreed to an area which will be restricted for office use. —by STEVE PETERSON

High winds damage SW towns

WAUCONDA—High winds blew trees down all over the village April 6, causing thousands of dollars in damage. Cases of trees falling onto a home on Bonner Road and on a parked car on Maple Avenue were reported, and power lines were knocked down in a number of subdivisions in town, leaving some residents without electricity for between four to 23 hours.

Neighboring Island Lake was not spared by the intense wind storm, as a gas station on Route 176 lost its sign, shingles and siding blew off homes in both new and older sections of town, and several village signs were knocked to the ground.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Soccer referee dies on field

LAKE ZURICH—William J. Strauts, a long time member of the village's plan commission, died of a heart attack while working as a referee at a girls soccer game late last week. He was 57.

Strauts was remembered as an honest, generous and intelligent man by his family, friends and co-workers. An architect with W.W. Grainger for 17 years, Strauts had spent more than 10 years on the plan commission, serving as its chairman from 1989 through 1995.

He collapsed during the second half of a game held at Lake Zurich High School against Libertyville. An athletic trainer and two certified nurses on the scene tried to revive him, but he was pronounced dead at 7:10 p.m. at Good Shepherd Hospital near Barrington.

When not spending time with his family, working or serving on the plan commission, Strauts kept an interest in soccer, which had ranged from a player to coach to referee. In lieu of flowers, the family asked donations be sent to the United States Soccer Team.— by SPENCER SCHEIN

Sister gives kidney to brother

DEER PARK—Kelly Young, 18, a senior at Lake Zurich High School, is recovering this week in Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago, after having donated her left kidney to her younger brother Billy.

Billy, 15, underwent his third kidney transplant on April 7, and was given his best chance at having a healthy life, according to Linda Young, their mother.

Kelly knew that she was a perfect match for 10 months, but kept the fact hidden from her brother until one month ago, not wanting to worry him.

A third transplant was necessary as his body started rejecting the one he received seven years ago, Linda Young said.

Following the April 7 procedure, hospital officials said both were under observation.

"We are hoping both of the kids can be discharged by Saturday," said Julie Pesch, hospital spokeswoman.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Mundelein man held for rape

MUNDELEIN— A Mundelein man is being held in Lake County Jail on a $200,000 bond after being charged with raping and beating a woman with whom he had a previous relationship. Jorge Portillo, 28, of 555 Deepwoods Drive, Apt. 1H, was arrested near his home Sunday, April 6, about 30 minutes after the attack was reported. Assistant State's Attorney Paul O'Keefe said the 34-year-old woman was seen talking with Portillo outside her home and in his car, Sunday afternoon about 3 p.m.. According to reports, Portillo drove to the rear of a business near the intersections of Rtes. 60 and 83. where he beat the woman repeatedly about the head, face and upper body and raped her.

Portillo is charged with aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, aggravated battery, battery and unlawful restraint. He was to appear in court April 10.

An order of protection was filed April 8 prohibiting Portillo from having contact with the victim.

If convicted of the charges, Portillo faces a minimum of six years and up to 30 years in prison, according to O'Keefe.— Staff report

Electors want lake deal

LAKE VILLA TOWNSHIP— About 50 residents approved a resolution calling for the township create a lake ordinance for all township-owned lakes.

The resolution is supported by the Venetian Village Community Association and the West Miltmore Property Owners Association. However, it is opposed by the West Miltmore Community Association.

The Lake ordinance would require keys at boat launches at Lake Miltmore and Sand Lake. Township residents wishing to use the lake also would have to purchase a township sticker.

The next step is for the township board to determine if they want to accept the resolution and approve a lake ordinance.

Joan Fischer, president of the West Miltmore Community Association, said the residents of Venetian Village and West Miltmore should be allowed to receive all the facts and vote on this issue. —by ALEC JUNGE

School hosts food fair

GURNEE—Those with appetites for unusual food fare will be at home April 13 from noon to 5 p.m. at the Seventh-day Adventist Christian School of Lake County. In addition to having an annual science fair for students, the school is hosting an International Food Fair.

From Europe to Africa to the Philippines, for a small fee exotic foods are available to anyone who wishes to attend. The event doubles as a fundraiser for the non-profit school.

The SDA Christian School of Lake County is located at the corner of Stearns School and North Fuller roads in Gurnee, just one block west of Rte. 41.

Planning Group is dead

ANTIOCH- The Northwest Educational Planning Group is likely to disband after no further progress was made a the last meeting and nothing new is being considered.

The group is comprised of Antioch Community High School officials, the elementary schools which send students to the high school, Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst village officials and Antioch and Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber officials.

The group met for more than a year. However, when the issue of finances and options became part of the discussions, none of the districts could agree on a solution that would be acceptable.

The group ended the last meeting with no further meetings planned. —by ALEC JUNGE

Volunteerism

Green and the Navy for its involvement," said Jeryl Mortvedt of the Lake County United Way.

Volunteer coordinator Laurie Goldstein said one of the many programs in which Sailors have contributed countless hours is Public Action to Deliver Shelter (PADS).

"Sailors have been instrumental in staffing the second and third shifts of PADS facilities throughout the season," she said. "They have contributed so many hours to the program. It has always been difficult for PADS to find volunteers for these shifts, so the Navy contributions have been directly responsible for the success of the program."

For Admiral Green, volunteerism exemplifies the values young Sailors are taught in Navy basic training at Great Lakes. Great Lakes is the Navy's only basic training facility and both men and women begin their Navy careers at the base near North Chicago.

"It has become increasingly apparent that the spirit of what has made their contributions significant has been based on the Navy's core values of honor, courage and commitment," Green said. "Each Sailor is taught to live through core values and in order for that to happen it has to be taught here, where the Navy begins."

Green says the core values are the guiding light towards how people continue their lives as responsible and strong citizens.

In the increasingly technical world of national defense, Green believes character development will play a more important role.

"We are compelled to expect more and demand more out of each of our Sailors," Green said. "As we continue to apply technology to ships, crews will be reduced and greater responsibility will be placed on those who remain. As we develop along these lines, fewer of the Sailor's task will be routine and mundane and more will require control of information systems. Sailor's input will be to make intelligent and moral decisions as opposed to their input being physical."

Green says the Navy's commitment to its core values is demonstrated for its newest members by the instructional staff at both the Recruit Training Command and Service School Command where 60 percent of Sailors receive their initial occupational specialty training.

"My role is essentially to ensure adequate resources are applied to training challenges at Great Lakes and that our training role has a voice in the rest of the establishment. I am here to be an advocate for the people here, to the rest of the Navy and to apply my expertise at sea to the process of building Sailors for the fleet," Green said. "The front line trainers are the most important people to the Sailor's future, they set the example for them to follow throughout their Navy career."

Green says in today's world situation, the nation's defense must be administered by individuals who have volunteered for military service, are well-trained and have strong character.

Green has been commander of the Naval Training Center since June 1996 and will likely complete a two-year tour. He is also actively involved with the Lake County Economic Development Commission, School District 187 in North Chicago, Warren Township Assisting Youth, American Red Cross and Boy Scouts of America.

Great Lakes Naval Training Center employees 26,000 individuals.

Griefnotes

You can help in a number of special ways. Through reaching out and offering support in the form of listening and presence you will help a great deal. Ask your friend how they are doing. Mention the deceased by name and allow the bereaved to continue discussion about the deceased if they wish. Many bereaved report feeling isolated. You can help by including them in your social groups. Contact with the grieving

Pet of the Week
"MOE"

"MOE" is an unusually handsome mostly chow/shepherd mix. Moe is a neutered male and at four years old, in the prime of his life. He is a medium size dog with a luxuriously thick red-gold coat that's irresistable. He also has a beautiful face, and big brown eyes that match a big affectionate heart. Sadly, this great dog lost his home when his owner became too ill to care for him. This is a very well behaved dog possessing a sweet and calm disposition. Moe wants to please and is both responsive and trainable. This is a wonderful dog who has been overlooked at the shelter far too long. A resident for over a year, Moe will bring a handsome face, a wagging tail and a heart full of love to anyone looking for a wonderful companion animal. Come and meet Moe in Cage 79.
ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING & OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.
Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.
Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11am-5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

'There Is Still The Epilogue'

How thin the veil between our loves,
Between the lonely here, and there..
The meeting place for relatives
Who show, in subtle ways, they care:
By thoughts implanted in our days,
A mental nudge for plans to make,
A soothing, well-remembered touch,
With loving care for roads we take..
We may have parts in slight charades,
Perhaps in chorused melodies.
Our lines might number just a few,
Or take the lead in tragedies.
Then at the ending of the play,
The curtain falls without a sound..
But there is still the Epilogue
As loved ones meet; to draw around

The Week of the Young Child

Child Care Coalition of Lake County

April 13 to 20, 1997

Dear Mr. President: Remember that learning begins at birth

"Make children our number one priority" is the theme of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County's 1997 celebration of the Week of the Young Child. Coalition members are spreading that message throughout Lake County by way of events such as the Gurnee Mills kickoff April 13 and publication of this special section of Lakeland Newspapers.

The Coalition also sent its message to President Bill Clinton following his State of the Union address. Here is what the Coalition wrote:

President Bill Clinton
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500
February 5, 1997

Dear President Clinton:

On behalf of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County, I want to applaud your State of the Union address, focusing on education as a top priority.

The fact that 40 percent of 8 year olds in this country cannot read on their own is appalling, but we all know that learning does not begin in 3rd grade—or even in kindergarten—it begins at birth.

As you indicated, current research emphasizes unequivocally the important connection between brain development and children's experiences during their first few years of life. These findings, of course, have important implications for all child care, including child care that is linked to welfare reform.

With more and more infants, toddlers and preschoolers spending most of their waking hours in out-of-home care, we need to be increasingly concerned about the lack of quality, early childhood education and care programs available to working families.

It is ironic that during these early years, the ones most crucial to optimal development and learning, teachers/caregivers are too often unqualified, unprepared and unable to provide a stimulating, nurturing and stable environment.

Expanding Head Start may be a step in the right direction, but Head Start alone cannot begin to fill the void. As a part-day, three or four hour program, Head Start does not meet the needs of working parents. Only where there are full-day Head Start programs (few and far between) or where Head Start has combined with community-based child care programs (wrap-around child care) have we begun to address these critical needs.

The Child Care Coalition remains hopeful that the coming year will begin to bring workable solutions to some of the challenges that face young children and families in our country today.

We wish you much success in your second term of office.

Sincerely,
Patricia Goodman
President
Child Care Coalition of Lake County

On a statewide level the Child Care Coalition promotes Voices for Illinois Children's "start early" approach of supporting families and nurturing the learning that begins when a baby enters the world. In its action agenda Voices asks citizens of Illinois to:

- Support new families
- Provide quality health care
- Start early in every child's life
- Improve schools
- Work in collaboration
- Promote family economic security.

What can individual families do?

They can learn how their federal and state representatives' views child care issues and vote for those who stand for children. Parents can follow local issues by reading community newspapers and watching community cable. Parents can speak up at city and village council meetings on issues such as zoning for child care. The Child Care Coalition urges parents to get involved—to become advocates for children in their own communities.

Coalition invites families to Gurnee Mills

Children who turn in toy weapons receive prizes and everyone attending is eligible for raffle prizes from Gurnee Mills merchants. There will be face painting, arts tables and resource materials for young families. All events, to be held in the Gurnee Mills showcourt area (Use parking lots G or H), are free of charge. Prepare preschoolers now to resist substance abuse later

A child who has a well-developed sense of self-esteem and close attachments to the family and family values is less apt to use or abuse substances in later childhood. Consistent care and discipline are crucial.

These were some of the comments of June Aimen, therapist and director of community education at the Josselyn Center for Mental Health, when she took part in a panel, "Preparing Preschoolers for the Drug-Free Years," in February at Deerfield High School.

Aimen said that in the first year the child develops a sense of trust and in the second year a sense of autonomy. "Children learn about the world by exploring," she said. "If they're inhibited by a parent who insists on doing for the child, they have a diminished sense of mastery and they are more dependent on others. They are more vulnerable to the approval of the peer group."

Parents need to "walk the developmental ladder," Aimen explained. "They need to be nurturing to meet the needs of the helpless infant and flexible to tune into the changes as the infant becomes a toddler and the toddler a preschooler. Young children need parents who let them know there is someone at home who is in charge—someone who is older and wiser, who can protect and set limits to give the child a sense of security."

–Dear Marilyn

Q: Lately I have become more aware of the academic knowledge that children learn in preschool and day care. Is there any other learning that goes on?

A: Good question. Preschool education is not only the early beginnings of a child's formal education, but also an important period for children to learn about themselves and the world they live in.

In a preschool setting a child learns to be a part of a group and how to listen. Children learn to take direction. They learn how to follow a lead and work cooperatively with peers. They have successes and feel good about themselves. They learn to respect others and to respond to ideas other than their own. They may even learn to share. All of these benefits, which come about through play, are important tools for a child to have as he enters kindergarten. Although non-academic skills, they are valuable for a child to possess as she continues up the ladder of education.

The early years are, indeed, important years of learning. Just remember: A good preschool experience should stimulate a child's curiosity and the desire to learn—something all parents want for their children.

Editor's note: Marilyn Straus, an early childhood specialist, continues her column, "Dear Marilyn," a service of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County. Send questions or concerns to Dear Marilyn c/o Child Care Coalition, P.O. Box 1252, Highland Park, IL 60035.

Families consider important Child Care choices

Choosing child care is one of the most important decisions a parent will make in the life of their child. Whether choosing a preschool, camp, after school program or full-time child care at a center, family child care home or an in-home nanny service, it is a decision that should be made with much care. How does a parent begin? Some of the considerations when choosing child care should be: What is the purpose of the care? What hours do I need care? What location do I need? What age is my child? What expectations do I have for the child care program? What are my child's needs and interests?

Starting with the need and the child's age usually will begin the process. If you have an infant, many parents prefer family child care homes or in-home care due the small number of children served in these settings and the ability to individualize care. Center care is also available for this age group. Toddlers have the same care options. Preschool children have those choices as well as part time preschools that usually serve children ages three to five. School age children have before and after school-age care programs available to them that are often located on school sites, within walking distance from schools and/or with transportation services offered from their local school to the school-age site. School-age children also have private camps and park programs available for them on non-school months and vacation.

All of the above type of child care listings are available from your county Resources and Referral agency, part of Resource and Referral network, available child care programs. The state designated child care referral program for Lake County is the YWCA Child Care Resource and Referral Program in Waukegan, which has over 700 child care programs listed including centers, homes, nanny services, before and after-school programs, camp and preschools. The Illinois network of Child Care Resource and Referral programs are non-profit program funded by the Dept. of Children and Family Services and the Dept. of Public Aid, as well as other sources such as United Way and Americore. For Lake County child care listings call 1 (800) 244-5376. For information about eligibility for state-paid child care subsidy programs in Lake County, call 662-6129. For information on training classes and grant money available for child care staff in Lake county call 662-4247. All three of these programs are available through the YWCA Child Care Resource and Referral program of Lake County.

Resource and Referral programs can help parents find available child care, but parents should make the final decision by making on-site visits and interviewing the potential caregiver. On-site visits should include questions about health and safety, toys and equipment, ratio of caregivers to number of children, ages of children served, available outside play space, food services and menus, experience and education of caregivers, meeting of licensing standards, program and activities for the children and methods of parent-staff communication. Choosing child care is an important decision and should be made with adequate time to look into the types of care and the potential child care settings and caregivers.—by CAROL EGLSAER

The definition of quality home child care

Quality home child care takes place in the healthy and safe home environment of the caregiver. The home is clean, organized and reasonably neat. The caregiver is a nurturing adult with a warm, pleasant and positive personality who has been specially trained and continues to pursue more training in child development. There may be assistants to the caregiver who will also present a nurturing personality and have training in child development. There are enough adults to respond to children individually. The caregiver has a valid license from the Dept. of Children and Family Services and operates in compliance with that license.

A quality home child care provider has a daily schedule that includes learning activities with materials and toys appropriate to the ages and developmental stages of the children being cared for in the home. There will often be a mix of ages (as in a natural family) and children learn to cooperate and get along in a small group. Television and video tape viewing are minimal and carefully selected for appropriateness. Nap or rest time is scheduled daily and nutritious snacks and meals are served. There are frequent positive and warm interactions among adults and children. Depending on the numbers and ages of children and adults there may be planned and safely conducted field trips or outings. Children are treated with respect, disciplined gently and by example. Children treat each other and the caregiver with respect. Independence is fostered by allowing children to do as much for themselves as they are developmentally ready to do. Children are taught good health and safety practices throughout their day by adult example.

A quality home child care provider has a written contract with parents covering the details of their agreement. Daily records are kept on each child's needs and activities. The provider has frequent communication with parents and works with them to foster each child's growth and well-being. A quality caregiver seeks advice and referral when necessary to meet a child's needs. The caregiver's day is devoted to the children's needs and her attention is not diverted from them for personal chores or activities.—by KATHY BURTON Highland Park/Highwood Home Child Care Assn.

Homes should be healthy, safe for all children

We all want our children to live in an environment that is healthy and safe. Occasionally we forget to provide that protection. Sometimes all it takes is a reminder or explanation to keep our homes as safe and healthy as is necessary for our children to grow and to learn. Remember, too, the safety measures we carry out in our homes must also be followed in the homes our children visit—grandparents, neighbors, aunts/uncles, and baby sitters.

See if you can answer "true" to the following:

• Our home has a working smoke detector on every level and batteries are checked monthly. We also plan and practice two fire escape routes.

• Household cleaners and all medicines and vitamins (prescription and over the counter) are stored out of reach of young children.

• We cover electrical outlets with safety plugs.

• We avoid dressing our children in loose or stringed clothing (hoods, attached mittens, scarves, ponchos) or using stringed items (jump ropes) that could be caught on playground equipment and strangle children.

• Our family buckles up on every car ride. A safety seat is used until our child outgrows it. When our child is 40-inches tall and weighs 40 lbs., he can be moved to a booster seat or use the safety belt.

• Our home has emergency numbers near telephones and first aid supplies (police, fire, poison control center and medical services).

• If our home has horizontal blinds, pleated and cellular shades, vertical blinds and draperies, we will contact the Window Covering Safety Council 1(800)506-4636 for information on window covering safety and free tassels or tie-down devices to ensure our children are safe when near window covering cords.

• Our children are always supervised in or near water—pools, lakes rivers, bathtubs, buckets of water or toilet bowls.

• Our home's hot water heater is set at 120 degrees Fahrenheit, no higher. We always test water temperature before placing children in the bathtub. We are considering anti-scalding plumbing.

• Stairway safety gates and window guards on windows that are not fire emergency exits are installed in our home.

• The playgrounds our children use have safe equipment (anchored securely, no splinters, rust spots or loose screws/joints) and cushioned surfaces.

• To keep our children healthy, we teach, remind and supervise them on how to properly wash their hands.

• We dress our children appropriately for weather conditions, remembering we live in the Midwest where cold weather is a part of our lives.

• We remember to immunize our children against vaccine preventable diseases according to established schedules.—by CHARLENE HENDRICKSON, BSN, RN, C, NHA, Lake County Health Department.

'I see what you're saying': Using gestures with infants and toddlers

According to current research on the human brain infants are born with a great capacity to express language. According to the findings the newborns' brain is composed of trillions of neurons (like computer chips) that are waiting to be "wired" for learning. The windows of opportunity may go uptapped without the stimulation required between the ages of birth through 3.

While early childhood educators will encourage parents to provide an environment that is rich in appropriate toys, activities, and experiences, the new research focuses heavily on the language segment of the brain and ways to stimulate the neurons.

A new book by two child development experts advocates the use of gestures by parents and other adults interacting with infants and toddlers. "Baby Signs—How to Talk With Your Baby Before Your Baby Can Talk" (Contemporary Books copyright 1996) by Linda Acredolo and Susan Goodwyn, both professors working in California, documents how children under 2 will make their needs known by using gestures.

We all begin by teaching our children how to wave "bye-bye," and play "peek-a-boo." After this, we may forget to continue with unspoken language. By using gestures with your child in his/her first two years of life, you may open a new world of communication that was previously not considered. As the child develops the capacity to say words, further language acquisition and speech patterns will quickly unfold.

"Baby Signs" is filled with photographic examples of young children engaged in gesturing as well as a list of signs for communication. You may devise your own system with your child, and remember, most of all to have fun while stimulating brain development!—by CHARLENE ACKERMAN, M.ED, Kennedy Child Care Center

Programs help parents do a good job

Help is close by for Lake County families facing that most important and challenging job—parenthood. Local organizations and agencies offer workshops, home visits, discussions and support groups on subjects ranging from babies' sleep patterns to building considerate family relationships. Here is a sample of programs in Lake County that provide professional education and support for young parents.

• ChildServ: Child abuse prevention programs include Moms Place in Waukegan and Ingleside and Lugar Para Madres (Spanish-speaking) in Round Lake, where mothers meet weekly to avoid isolation and enhance parenting skills. Educational conferences for the Hispanic community in Waukegan include "How to avoid the abuse of your child" on April 25. Call (847)263-2200.

• Family Network: This support service in Highland Park, open five mornings a week as a drop-in center, offers Friday morning discussion groups for parents while their children play with other children their age. Workshops also are held on topics such as child care, toileting, separation and child development.

With four other local agencies, Family Network sponsors Right from the Start, which offers "Let's Do Lunch," a weekly get-together for parents and their children from birth to 3 years. Call (847)433-0377.

Young Moms Together is a new education support group meeting at Family Network Wednesdays from 6 to 8 p.m. Teenagers up to the age of 21 and their children under the age of 2 are eligible to join. Dinner and child care are provided. Call Nancy Lenz at 433-0377.

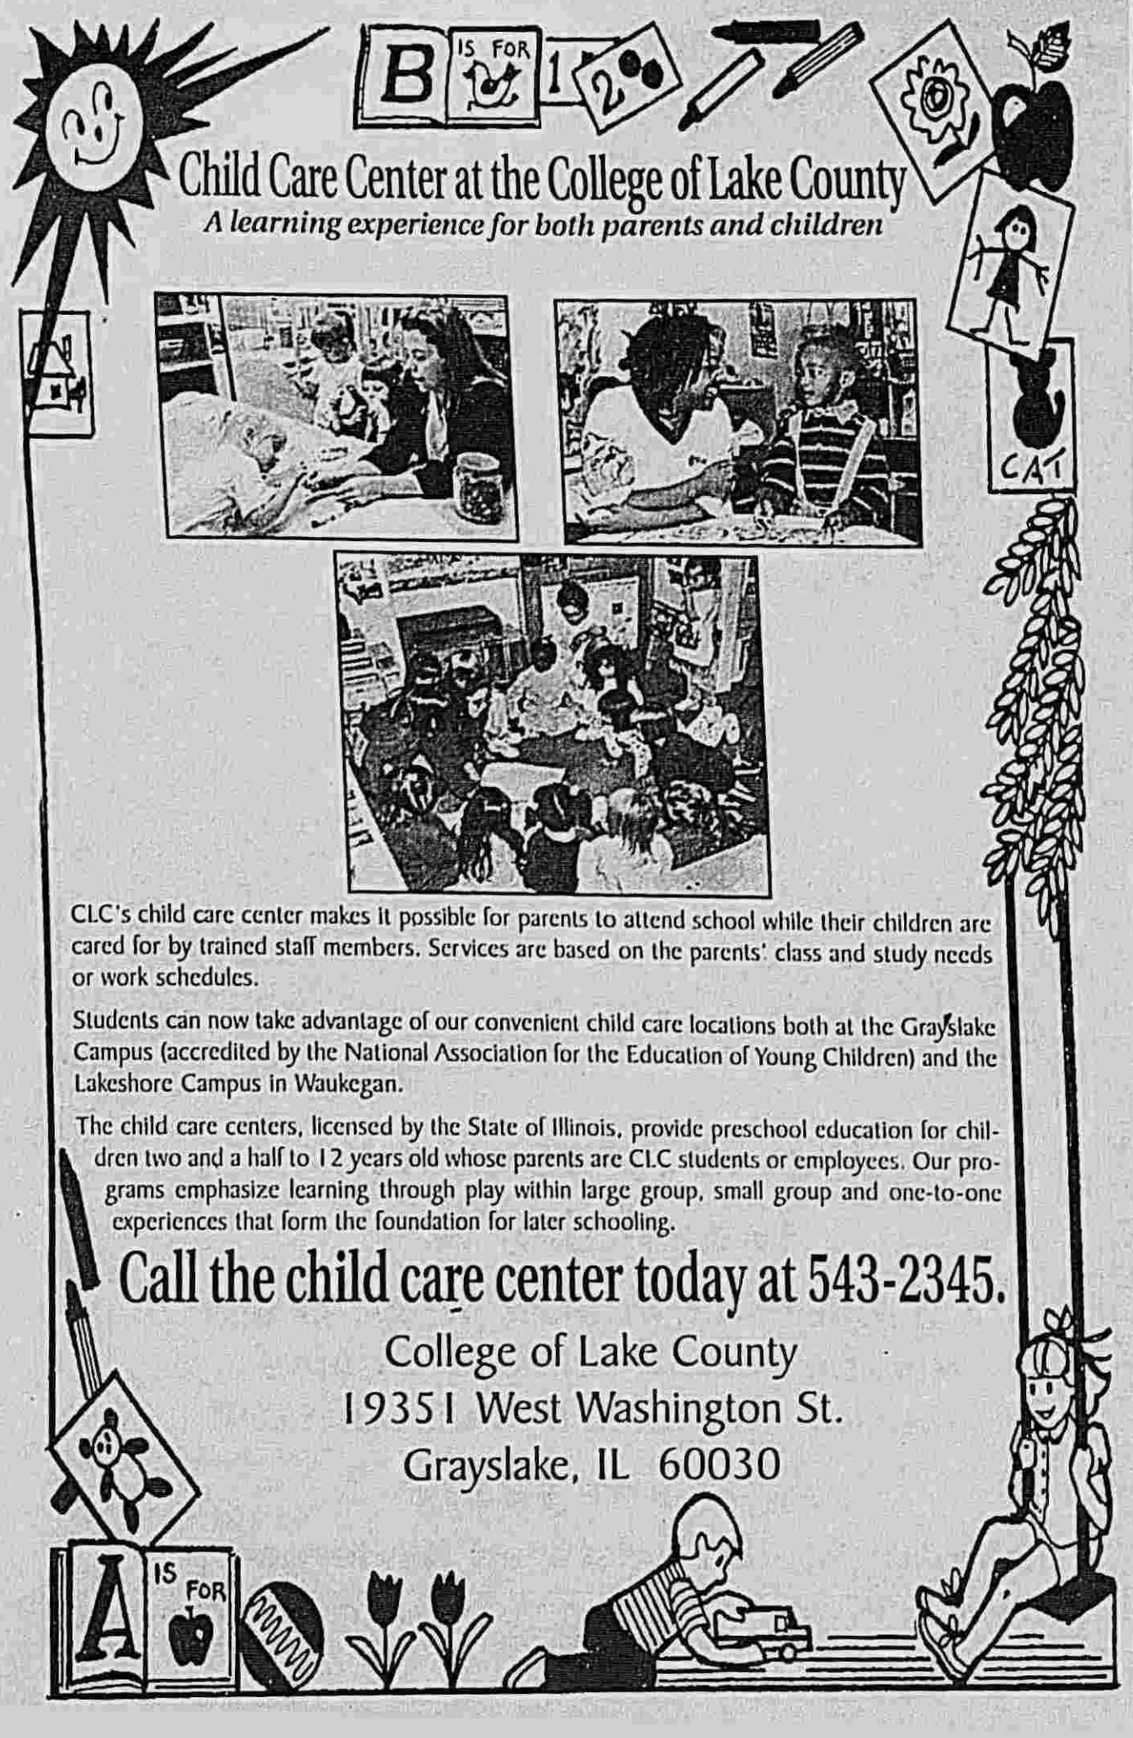

• Family Service of South Lake County, Family Service Agency of North Lake County and Youth and Family Counseling provide "Nurturing Programs" that parents and children attend together. Call (847)662-4464.

Family Service of South Lake County offers In-Home Child Guidance, a home visiting program for parents with children ages birth through 5. An early childhood specialist calls on parents at home to answer questions ranging from "Why doesn't my child behave?" to "What should I do if my baby cries all the time?" Call (847)432-4981.

• YWCA of Lake and McHenry Counties offers their Parenting Training workshops at the central office at 2133 Belvidere Road four times a year. On April 15 from 7 to 8 p.m. the topic will be "Tips to Build Your Child's Self-Esteem." The June 18 topic is "Encouraging Cooperative Behavior—Positive Discipline Strategies." The workshops are free to all Lake County parents. There is free child care with call-in registration. Call Patty Delancey at (847)662-4247.

Child Care Center at the College of Lake County

A learning experience for both parents and children

CLC's child care center makes it possible for parents to attend school while their children are cared for by trained staff members. Services are based on the parents' class and study needs or work schedules.

Students can now take advantage of our convenient child care locations both at the Grayslake Campus (accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children) and the Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan.

The child care centers, licensed by the State of Illinois, provide preschool education for children two and a half to 12 years old whose parents are CLC students or employees. Our programs emphasize learning through play within large group, small group and one-to-one experiences that form the foundation for later schooling.

Building with blocks builds independence

Have you ever walked into a preschool class and seen children busy building with blocks? Did you wonder why they are playing so intently that they have not noticed you are there?

Well, it is because it is creative play you are observing with many meaningful first hand experiences that encourage cognitive, socio-emotional and physical development.

There are many kinds of blocks—Leggos, cardboard or wooden blocks, hollow plastic blocks and blocks that are considered table toys. Children of all ages play with blocks. Children can be seen at a young age just piling blocks in a truck and pushing them. Children learn that some blocks are heavy. The textures of some blocks are different from other blocks. Children start to learn the properties and understand what can and cannot be done with blocks.

As children grow, so does block development. As children begin to create with blocks, they may make flat rows on the floor that resemble a road or build towers with different shapes and sizes. Through experimentation children learn to problem-solve in the active process of block building. Creative block play can involve math and science principles, and can develop muscular control and coordination, eye-hand coordination, and visual perception. Children can experience pride in accomplishment.

We as teachers and parents can enhance a child's play by having props such as trucks and animals to promote creative play. When a child is building, you can show interest by asking questions such as "How do you think a curved block would work on your building for a roof?" This can encourage the child to work with other kinds of blocks and try new combinations. When we supply children with enough materials, and opportunities they can create freely and gain independence.

When you next observe a child playing with blocks, remember playing is a child's work. Children are expressing their feeling and experiences through creative play. We as teachers and parent should take the lead to create an environment that stimulates free expression in our children.—by LINDA BANDAUSKAS, Lake County Family YMCA

Videocassette portrays grassroots efforts against violence

Making Peace, the public television series, is about people making a difference in their communities by healing the conditions that create violence. The Lake County Unites for VIP—Violence Intervention and Prevention—is working with community groups to foster grass roots activities to rebuild our communities through education and encouragement.

The series shown on WTTW March 3, 4 and 5, was designed to promote peace education and community empowerment. The first program, profiles "Save Our Sons and Daughters," a grass roots organization that provides counseling and support for families and violence prevention services for the community. The second program features a suburban woman and her efforts in addressing domestic violence and an educational program teaching children critical skills to expand children's life options. The third profiles the underground railroad and the importance of life-affirming rituals that challenge young people to invest in each other and their community. The last episode highlights a white couple living in Chicago's Hyde Park, working to nurture a sense of community.

10 reasons to read to your child

1. Because when you hold them and give them attention, they know you love them.

2. Because reading to them will encourage them to become readers.

3. Because children's books today are so good that they are fun even for adults.

4. Children's books illustrations often rank with the best, giving them a lifelong feeling for good art.

5. Books are one way of passing on your moral values to them. Readers know how to put themselves in another's shoes.

6. Because, until they learn to read themselves, they will think you are magic.

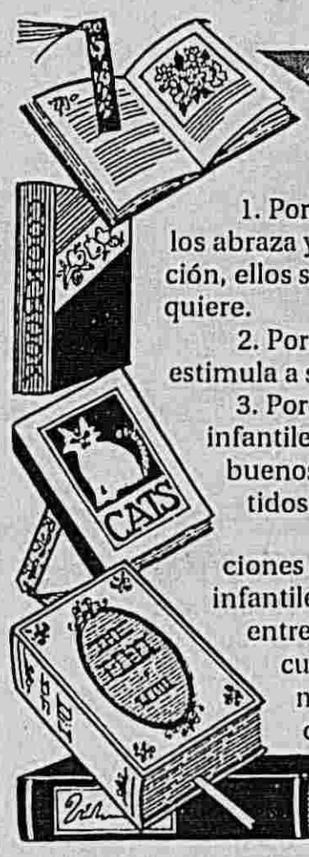

7. Because every teacher and librarian they ever encounter will thank you.

8. Because it's nostalgic.

9. Because, for that short space of time, they will stay clean and quiet.

10. Because, if you do, they may then let you read in peace.

Diez razones para leerles a su hijos

3. Porque los libros infantiles de hoy son tan buenos que son divertidos hasta para adulto.

4. Las ilustraciones de los libros infantiles están a menudo entre las mejores, lo cual les da a los ninos una apreciación por el buen arte para toda la vida.

5. Los libros son un vehiculo para que usted le transmita a sus hijos sus valores morales. Lo que leen saben cómo ponerse en el lugar de otro.

6. Porque, hasta que aprendan a leer solos, pensarán que usted hace magia.

7. Porque todo maestro y bibliotecario que alguna vez los conozca, se lo agradecerá.

The Week of the Young Child

April 13 to 20, 1997

Child Care Coalition of Lake County

Dare to be free...don't watch TV

This April, all across the country, millions of school children and their families will leave their television sets "turned off" for seven days during the Third Annual National TV-Turnoff Week, April 24 through 30.

How can you and your family participate? Find out if your local school, library, Scout or church groups has organized a community turnoff campaign. Contact TV-Free America at 1611 Connecticut Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20009, (202)887-0436. Their e-mail address is: TVFA@essential.org.

Toddler property laws

While it is important to get into the mind of a 2 or 3 year old, we know that it never occurs to them that other children might have legitimate desires to use the same toy as they. The following list gives an idea of what they might be thinking when told to share. Certainly a sense of humor on our part is helpful as we gradually help them understand the sharing process.

1. If I like it it's mine.
2. If it's in my hand, it's mine.
3. If I can take it from you, it's mine.
4. If I had it a little while ago, it's mine.
5. If it's mine, it must never appear to be yours in any way.
6. If I'm doing or building something, all the pieces are mine.
7. If it looks like mine, it is mine.
8. If I saw it first, it's mine.
9. If you are playing with something and you put it down, it automatically becomes mine.
10. If it's broken, it's yours!

The FIGHTING BACK Coalition is helping to mobilize Lake County around the prevention of alcohol, tobacco and other drug abuse and gang violence. In 1996 The FIGHTING BACK Coalition broadened its county-wide efforts to form the FIGHTING BACK Community Partnerships Coalition.

The Coalition is comprised of community partnership organizations from across Lake County, and is working to help build a locally crafted shared vision of the changes necessary to create a healthy community. The Coalition serves as a catalyst for the creation of a community culture that "denormalizes" the use and abuse of illegal drugs, alcohol, tobacco, and gang and other violence.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

I have been working for (name withheld) for the past 5 months and recently asked my employer for a few weeks off to care for my moms brother who had just gotten out of the hospital. Mom could not care for him because she had to work as did dad. My uncle has another brother and sister who both live out of state so I figured that I could handle the job. I understand there is a family leave act that was passed allowing a person the necessary tome off to care for a sick family member without losing your job, pay or benefits. My problem is my company called me after the first day being gone and said they were letting me go. They told me the reason was due to inadequate attendance even though they know I was caring for a sick uncle. The only thing they offered me when I left was that I could continue to pay my own insurance through their <COBRA> plan. My mom and I are thinking of hiring an attorney to file a suit for wrongful dismissal. I know people write to you all the time with their problems, and I would appreciate whatever you could do, or any advice you could give. Thank you, J.P.-Lindenhurst

Dear J.P.,

In speaking with the parties involved in your behalf, it became known that a 40 hour weekly attendance was not high on your list of priorities. In fact, your company had already put you under an attendance probation 6 week before. You may want to rethink your phone call to the lawyer. Per your former employer...5 months working for a company does not meet the requirements of the "Family Leave Act." That's strike one! Caring for your sick uncle under the circumstances would also not fall under the guidelines of the "Family Leave Act." Strike Two! According to your former employer their company does not fall into the required number of employees mandatory for instituting this act. Strike Three! Obviously in a time of need one does not always know when an emergency will arise where one would need to activate this "Family Leave." In your case however, the story of your uncle that no one ever heard you mention came from out of the blue. A company suffers the additional pressures in the absence of its employees. Yours came without warning and a voicemail message stating you needed time off. It most likely occurred to your employer that while this time your heart may have been in the right place, your previous track record for reporting your work was not. Voicemail was not the proper way to communicate your dilemma. Your employer decided that in your absence, you would be replaced...permanently. Keep in mind that while although anyone can sue anyone, winning or losing is the gamble you take. Perhaps you should save your money on legal fees since it is apparent that the company has a strong leg to stand on based on past performance. Better you should concentrate your efforts on finding a new job to support yourself and purchase an alarm clock that will assist you in getting to your new employer on time! Good Luck.
